Execution of U.S. Agents Is Castro Threat

By DANIEL HARKER
Associated Press Staff Writer
HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro said Wednesday night his government has captured several agents of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency, including two Canadian pilots, who were sent into Cuba on sabotage missions after Hurricane Flora.

He indicated they may face death sentences.

He said several prisoners from a CIA ship called the Rex would appear on television to tell their stories. He did not say when they would appear or give details of their capture but said the Rex was a 150-foot diesel craft flying the Nicaraguan flag and based in West Palm Beach, Fla.

In West Palm Beach, port manager Joel Wilcox said the Rex was tied up in Palm Beach. In his three-hour radio-television speech, Castro accused the CIA of "stepping up its activities against Cuba in the wake of the devastation caused by Hurricane Flora."

Castro accused the CIA of murdering workers, landing weapons and infiltrators in Cuba, hiring saboteurs and using postal packages to send dynamite and other explosives into Cuba.

In Washington, the CIA declined to comment on Castro's charges.

Castro said the two Canadians—identified as Ronald Patrick Lee and William David—were arrested in Havana Oct. 24 as they tried to smuggle in 18 cans of explosives concealed inside foam rubber.

Castro said the pair had piloted a Canadian commercial plane into Havana on several occasions. He said their last trip aroused suspicion when it was discovered they were transporting mail from the United States.

Castro accused the CIA of systematically raiding Cuba and linked the Oct. 21 strafing of the American freighter J. Louis near Cuban waters with a CIA foray he said was taking place at the same time.

Castro said that Cuban fighters strafed the J. Louis because it was thought the freighter was a mother ship from which coastal raiders in small boats were being launched.

Phantom Bugler Strikes Again

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The phantom bugler, who knows the secret phone number for hooking into the Eastern Air Lines public address system, has struck again.

For months, the bugler has sporadically serenaded Miami employees with "Taps," apparently tooted on a toy trumpet. Last week, a hangar sprinkler system suddenly spouted. As crews began to mop up, the public address system clicked on and the familiar trumpet began: "Row, row, row your boats, gently down the stream..."

JFK May Dump Johnson for Humphrey

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said today "it is inconceivable" that Vice President Lyndon Johnson would be dumped from the 1964 Democratic ticket.

Humphrey, the assistant Democratic leader, described as "unwarranted speculation" reports that he is a possible substitute for Johnson as President Kennedy's running mate in his bid for a second term.

"It is inconceivable that Vice President will not be renominated," the Minnesota said in an interview. "He has done a fine job and I am for him."

Humphrey, who is expected to lead the fight in the Senate for Kennedy's civil rights legislation, noted that Johnson supports this measure and has worked and spoken for racial equality.

This activity has diminished Johnson's popularity in the South, where the former senator from Texas helped Kennedy win the presidency in 1960.

But Humphrey said he doesn't think the party would be any better off with some other vice presidential candidate either in the South or in the North.

"We won't solve our problems by temporizing with them or substituting another candidate for Johnson," he said.

President Kennedy made it clear a year ago last May in a news conference that Johnson "will be on the ticket if he chooses to run." Johnson does choose to run.

Kennedy's associates said Johnson's renomination is such an accepted fact around the White House that the President hasn't even bothered to discuss it with the vice president.

Showing Pictures of Family Usually Places Friendship Under a Terrific Strain

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of life's ordeals is trying to figure what to say when someone shows you snapshots of his near and dear ones.

No matter how well you know a fellow or how likeable he may be, sooner or later he will put the friendship to a strain by whipping out his wallet.

"Lemme show you a recent picture of my ball and chain and all our little leg irons," he will say.

He thumbs through his credit cards, plucks out a color photo of his wife and kiddies, plants it in your perspiring palm and demands, "Well, what do you think of them?"

Well, if you told him the truth he'd break your arm, for the first two things you think are: "These couldn't be real people—they must be dressed up for Halloween," and "She looks like Lon Chaney in a fright wig and the kids look like vultures."

Liar that you must be, you stare at the snapshot as if struck dumb with the beauty of them all, then mumble in a voice husky with emotion:

"Gee, they really make the long voyage home worthwhile don't they?"

THE ANGLES BATTLE—Another skirmish in the ageless battle of the sexes will be climaxed Nov. 5 when voters in Sulphur Rock, Ark., choose seven city officials. The men's party is headed by Curtis Gilbert, left, who is running for mayor.

Four Still Missing in Maine Woods

MILLINOCKET, Maine (AP)

Two young airmen, lost on a hunting trip, were found today but four other persons still were missing in Maine wildlands whipped by two successive storms.

State police said Charles Balonis, 21, of Weymouth, Mass., and Larry Baker, 20, of Charles City, Iowa, apparently were in good condition.

They disappeared Tuesday while hunting near Van Buren, some 20 miles north of Loring Air Force Base. They were flown by helicopter to the base hospital.

Relays of rescue teams pressed searches for two other hunters, and a man and woman lost on mile-high Mt. Katahdin. Their task was hindered by

He Liked to Be On Time

BOSTON (AP)—William F. Dailey is precise about leaving his house at 7:10 a.m. every weekday. He's careful he doesn't miss the 7:25 a.m. commuter train from Bedford, Mass., to Boston.

At 8:30 he begins his day as general plant personnel supervisor for the New England Telephone Co.

Dailey, 64, has less than two months to go to complete a working career of 46 years with a remarkable attendance record.

Not only has he never missed a day of work; he's never even missed an hour.

In 1919, he recalls he started early and walked more than seven miles through a raging blizzard, but he got to work on time.

Dailey credits his wife and three children for his attendance record.

He says his wife keeps him in top health by rejecting any out-of-a-package meals in favor of old-fashioned dinners which she starts in mid-afternoon.

The three children all were born on their father's day off.

reasonably honest of soul has to keep silent and make his comment by way of sounds and gestures.

He can smile, chuckle, coo, gurggle or pretend to be so affected he has to wipe away a happy tear—anything to escape telling the full truth.

The safest thing is to resort to the half-truth. Simply say, "Why she reminds me of a movie star." You don't have to add what movie star she reminds you of. Maybe Lassic—or Marie Dressler playing a witches' role.

The surest way to become a social outcast in these cases is to resort to humor. It is always out of place.

I recall one time at a cocktail party when a strange woman had been boring me with a collection of family photos, and I had run out of ready answers.

"Bet you can't guess who this is?" she said coyly, holding up a faded snapshot.

The lady hardly hesitated a second. She reached up and calmly and slowly poured her martini over me. The photo was one of her made in her teens.

I felt rather silly standing there in the middle of a crowded room with a wet olive squarely atop my big square head.

Die of Starvation

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Nine Maldivians—three men, four women and two children—died of starvation and exhaustion when their boat drifted for 16 days in the Indian Ocean, survivors reported today.

Eleven survivors were brought to Colombo after being picked up off Sumatra by a freighter.

The survivors said they had put out from one of the Maldivian islands southwest of Ceylon.

Stormy seas pushed them off course, and they lost their water supplies and most of their food.

Reward for Americans Is Offered

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—The commander of South Viet Nam's 4th Army Corps, Brig. Gen. Huynh Van Cao, offered a $3,000 reward today to any unit in his command rescuing three U.S. Army men believed captured by Communist guerrillas.

The Americans—two officers and a medical sergeant—were virtually wiped out by the Communists Tuesday in a battle 140 miles southwest of Saigon.

Government losses were listed today as 16 known dead, 32 wounded, and 34 missing, including the Americans.

A massive air search for the Red unit and its captives fanned out over a wide area and ground patrols combed over canals, rice fields and swamps. But contact was established.

AP photographer Horst Faas reported from the area the bodies of 16 government troops involved in the engagement had been left lined up by the Communists along a river bank. He said there was evidence they might have been wounded in the fight and shot to death later.

The missing Americans were Capt. Humbert R. Versace of Baltimore, Md.; 1st Lt. James N. Rowe of McAllen, Tex., and Sgt. Daniel L. Pitzer of Spring Lake, NC.

They were serving as Army advisers to a 120-man Vietnamese special forces unit which the Communist Viet Cong routed.

Red Spy Trio to Leave U.S. on Friday

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Three members of the Soviet U.N. delegation accused by the United States of taking part in a spy plot will leave for Moscow Friday night, informed sources said today.

The United States demanded Wednesday that the three be expelled from U.S. territory on grounds they violated diplomatic immunity by helping another Russian and an American electronics engineer in an attempt to gain top secret information from a New Jersey firm engaged in government work.

The Soviet U.N. mission declined to say whether it would comply with U.S. demand, but the informed sources said the three have booked airline passage for the trip back to Moscow.

The Russian government was expected to protest the expulsion order and reject the espionage charge. A member of the Soviet U.N. delegation claimed the case was a provocation to prevent further improvement of U.S.-Soviet relations.

That Mouldy Stuff Worth $54,200

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—A high school teacher who had to have another look at the Gettysburg battlefield got the glorious news today—that "moldy stuff" he scopped up last June is worth $54,200.

"I feel sick. My legs are still shaking," said George C. Rapport, 46, a social studies teacher at a Bellmore, N.Y., high school.

Last June 26 the vacationing Rapports and their two children, Eileen 17, and Jack, 13, visited the Gettysburg battlefield in Pennsylvania.

They toured the Civil War site, but Rapport said: "You know how it is on a tour. Things go so fast you can't appreciate everything. So we went back."

Next day Rapport was walking by the Eternal Light Peace Memorial at the Gettysburg National Military Park. His wife and two children were in their car nearby.

On the ground lay a rotted bundle. "There was no one around," Rapport recalls. He picked it up—"I had no idea what was inside"—and placed it in the trunk of the car.

Later, he put it in the cellar of his home. "I couldn't possibly spend any of it. It didn't look like currency. It was too moldy."

"About 10 days later, I didn't know what to do with it, so I reported it to the Secret Service in New York."

He says he was called to Washington by the Secret Service about three weeks ago to tell his story.

W. T. Howell, deputy treasurer of the United States, said the mutilated currency was forwarded to Washington to see how much was redeemable.

Howell checked the National Park Service to see if it had any claim under law. He was told it did not.

Howell then notified the Internal Revenue Service since such findings are subject to federal income tax.

That is where the matter stands now. Howell said, with the Revenue Service checking on whether it has a tax claim.

Howell said he could foresee no hitches, that once the Revenue Service is done Rapport will get his money.

Rapport knows how he'll spend the money. "I want to send my kids to school. That's enough."

He was past president of the Arkansas Press Association. He has published the Monroe County Sun since 1941 and the Citizen since 1943.

Allen was born in Danbury, Neb., the son of a Presbyterian minister. He moved to Brinkley in 1921.

Survivors include his widow, Dorothy, and two brothers, Harry A. Allen of Brinkley and Dwight Allen of Cleveland, Ohio.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Friday at the Brinkley Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Oaklawn Cemetery.

Some folks seem to hate you on general principles," observed Mahalia Jackson, the famed Negro gospel singer.

Goblins Will Be Sent Out Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The little goblins will be out tonight. It's Halloween. They will be knocking at your door and crying, "Trick or treat."

Few of them have many "tricks," so you'd better have a "treat" to avoid embarrassment all around.

"Treats" are big business. Most merchants stock special supplies of Halloween candy and some candy manufacturers say that Halloween trade is responsible for the bulk of their business.

And there is more business in Halloween than candy. Costumes—ranging in price from 89 cents to several dollars—are big sellers. Masks can be bought for a dime, or as much as the buyers want to pay.

Sammy Smith, public relations director for the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, estimates that Arkansans spend over $1 million a year on Halloween.

This figure includes the cost of candy and costumes for the trick or treaters, and the cost of parties which are becoming increasingly popular as a device for keeping the little goblins off the streets.

Revolution in Nation's Factories

By NEIL GILBRIDE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A "quiet revolution" in race relations is taking place in the nation's factories and workshops, says the man who runs day-to-day operations of President Kennedy's equal employment program.

"We're not talking about race any more. We're talking about human beings," says Robert Taylor Jr.

Taylor, 42 and a Negro lawyer from Detroit, is executive vice chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity.

The committee, which has vast power to stop discrimination in a contract or program involving the federal government, has taken corrective action in about 3,000 cases out of approximately 5,000 complaints so far in its two years of existence.

"But this does not begin to touch the number of people that have been helped," Taylor said in an interview today in his office in the Labor Department.

Taylor likes to cite as an example the committee's success in persuading U.S. Steel Corp.'s Tennessee Coal and Iron Division in Birmingham, Ala., to erase racial lines in promotion and seniority.

The program caused not a ripple of racial trouble, Taylor said, even though it began when Negroes were demonstrating in Birmingham earlier this year.

While only 15 Negroes in the Birmingham plant had lodged complaints, the action helped about 7,000 others who worked there. The plant has some 30 per cent Negro workers.

Taylor works under Vice President Lyndon Johnson, the committee chairman, and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, vice chairman.

He estimated the equal employment program applies to some 22 million workers—those working for firms under federal contracts involving billions of dollars a year, and federal government employees.

Although the committee is the first such body to have enforcement powers, Taylor is proud of the fact that it has never had to cancel a federal contract to get compliance.

"We've been on the verge of it but never had to do it," he said.

were Gleb A. Pavlov, 39, an attaché; Yuri A. Romashin, 38, third secretary; and Vladimir I. Olenov, 37, identified only as a member of the Soviet delegation.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation linked the three with two persons arrested on spy charges in a railroad station parking lot in Englewood, N.J., Tuesday night—Igor A. Ivanov, 33, of New York City, Russian chauffeur for Amtorg, the Soviet government trade agency, and John William Butenko, 38, of Orange, N.J., control administrator for the International Electric Corp. of Pramus, N.J.

The FBI said Butenko met Ivanov, Pavlov and Romashin in the parking lot and handed them a briefcase containing data on "a highly sensitive Air Force contract" being handled by International Electric.

The corporation is working on a worldwide electronic control system for the Strategic Air Command.

Romashin and Pavlov were arrested with Ivanov and Butenko but were released because of their diplomatic status. FBI agents said they found a minute document copier that worked from a cigarette lighter in Pavlov's car.

Just Blame It on Automation

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Blame it on automation.

That was the verdict Wednesday in the case of the wayward $10,509 income tax refund check. Intended for Birmingham, it somehow ended up with the Rochelle Park, N.J., School Board.

A giant computer was fingered as the culprit.

The board wrote the Internal Revenue Service office in Birmingham that it doesn't pay taxes and thus has no refund.

George Patterson, IRS district director, said maybe the school's Social Security report got mixed up with the income tax reports.

get burned because of the intense heat.

They were having trouble setting backfires because of winds estimated at 30 miles an hour. The Weather Bureau warned that gusts up to 35 and 40 miles an hour could be expected today.

The fire was between Mena and Fort Smith in a sparsely populated area.

It was the worst forest fire Arkansas has had since the fall drought made forest tinder dry. Hunting has been stopped and Gov. Orval E. Faubus appealed to Arkansans to stop outdoor burning.

The B26 tankers, stationed at Ft. Chaffee, dropped 12,000 gallons of chemical on the fire Wednesday night.

MENA, Ark. (AP) — A 7,000-acre fire raged through the Ouachita National Forest near Mena early today. The fire hit Wednesday, doubled in size during the night and was still out of control today.

John T. Koen, supervisor of the million and a half-acre forest, said more than 300 men battled the fire Wednesday night and that officials on the scene called for 500 more men today.

Koen said the fire raged Wednesday despite bombing attacks by a pair of B26 bombers which unloaded 12,000 gallons of fire retardant on the forest. The planes will be used again today, he said.

"This fire is creating its own draft now," a forester said.

Don Hughes, public information officer for the Forest Service, said Eagleton, a tiny community north of Mena, was closest to the fire.

Don Hughes, public information officer for the U.S. Forest Service, said the crown fire — which flashes through tree tops and ten burns toward the ground — was causing spot fires as much as half a mile ahead of the main fire. Winds of 2 to 30 miles per hour pushed the blaze, he said.

Hughes said residents of 10 miles south of the fire, were "staying at home and watching it, but they're not evacuating."

Hughes said most of the timber destroyed was short leaf pine, the most valuable type for commercial use.

The planes and 130 men from the 3rd Corps Artillery of the 4th Army at Ft. Chaffee were to aid 200 volunteers in fighting the fire today.

The bombers each made 10 passes Wednesday evening, each unloading 600 gallons of ammonium phosphate on each bombing run.

MENA, Ark. (AP)—A forest fire whipped by 30 mile per hour wind raced over 9,000 acres of the vast Ouachita National Forest in West Arkansas today.

The National Forest Service said the fire was out of control and there were no immediate prospects of bringing it under control.

More than 1,000 men were called into the battle against the raging flames. Ft. Chaffee sent 120 soldiers to help 500 National Forest Service personnel and more than 200 volunteers. Then Chaffee prepared to send 214 more men, plus plows, tank trucks and ambulances.

No injuries or damage to private property had been recorded by the Forest Service this morning. The fire was between Mena and Fort Smith in a very lightly populated area. Fire plows protected the few scattered houses in the area by digging fire lines around them.

It was the worst forest fire Arkansas has had since the fall drought made forests tinder dry. Hunting has been stopped and Gov. Orval E. Faubus asked Arkansans to stop outdoor burning.

Two B26 bombers geared for forest fire fighting dropped 12,000 gallons of ammonium phosphate, a forest fire retardant, on the flames Wednesday night and returned to action today. They are based at Fort Chaffee.

There was no immediate danger to towns, said Don Hughes, public information officer for the Forest Service. Eagleton, a tiny community north of Mena, was closest to the fire. Hughes said residents of Mena, 10 miles south of the fire, were "staying at home and watching it, but they're not evacuating."

Hughes said the fire flashed through tree tops, then burned toward the ground, causing spot fires as much as half a mile ahead of the main fire.

Rough mountain terrain and high winds hampered firefighting.

The Ouachita National Forest encompasses 2,407,000 acres of scenic timber land in Arkansas.

Directing the operation was John T. Koen of Hot Springs supervisor of the Ouachita National Forest.

Volunteers battled the fire Wednesday night with four bulldozers, four water tank trucks and hand tools in the rugged mountain terrain 10 miles northwest of Mena, near Eagleton.

Koen made arrangements weeks ago for use of the bombers, from Fort Smith, when the forest fire threat in Arkansas reached the critical level. The state has been without a general rain for the past 53 days.

Three other fires in the national forest, which stretches from the foothills of the Ozark Mountains in Arkansas deep into Oklahoma, were extinguished Wednesday. The largest one covered about 300 acres, Koen said.

Nothing Stops the U.S. Mail

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Neither snow, nor sleet, nor the lack of a stamp stops the U.S. mail.

Calls JFK Economy Plan 1000 Day Flop

By WALTER MEARS
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater has called President Kennedy's economic program a 1,000-day flop—and suggested that New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller join him in attacking the Democratic administration instead of other Republicans.

The Arizona senator said Rockefeller's criticism of his stands—which has been concentrated on Goldwater foreign policy views—is not doing the Republican party any good.

He told a news conference Wednesday night Republicans should join in training their sights on Kennedy and the Democrats, not on each other.

In the speech that followed, Goldwater said Kennedy's economic leadership has Americans "bewildered, incredibly confused and badly defensive about the basic sources of this nation's historic economic strength."

Goldwater told some 1,500 business leaders that administration economic measures add up to "nearly a thousand days of wasted spending, wishful thinking, unwarranted interventions, wishful theories and waning confidence."

"One thousand days of barely concealed conflict with the very system of enterprise on which the nation has been built and on which much of the world must depend," Goldwater called it.

He told the banquet sponsored by the business magazine "Financial World" that under Kennedy "the dollar, which is and must remain the free world's fiscal anchor, faces its gravest challenge since the turn of the century."

He said there is talk of devaluing the dollar—"and let me remind you that this devaluation could come in spite of anyone's desire not to have it happen."

Goldwater said if he won the nomination and the White House, his first economic move would be to "get off the back of deep snow and continued high winds.

The ground search for a woman and a park ranger in the rugged basin area of mile-high Mt. Katahdin, north of Millinocket, was reinforced today by four experienced mountain climbers from the University of Maine.

The missing woman, Mrs. Margaret Ivusic, about 50, of Boston, was camping on the mountain in balmy weather last weekend with a companion, Mrs. Helen Mower, Concord, Mass.

Mrs. Ivusic became exhausted Monday and stopped on the trail while Mrs. Mower went to the Baxter State Park Camp of ranger Ralph Heath, 37, of Sherman, for assistance.

Heath traced the trail used by the two widows and once exchanged calls with Mrs. Ivusic Monday but could not locate her. He set out again Tuesday morning just before a heavy snowstorm hit the mountain and hasn't been heard from since.

In Van Buren, searchers found a car used by two missing airmen stationed at Loring Air Force Base in Limestone. An air and ground search, however, failed to turn up any other trace of the pair.

Airmen 2C Charles Balonis of Weymouth, Mass., and Larry Baker, of Charles City, Iowa, were caught in Tuesday's snow while hunting in woods five miles south of Van Buren, near the Canadian border.

In Edinburg, near Bangor, an estimated 70 searchers roved large sections of woodland without success for Charles A. Jellison, 69, a retired banker and postal official. Jellison has been missing since Monday when he

American businessmen."

The senator said he would ask Congress to overhaul the nation's tax laws from top to bottom.

In his address, Goldwater said the tax structure "represses business expansion, distorts the use of resources and is today one of, if not our major, economic problems."

Airport in Central Area Is Proposed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Wayne A. Stone, elected president of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce Wednesday, immediately proposed creation of a $5 million-to-$10 million central Arkansas airport to accommodate the largest airplanes.

It would be located to serve Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, Little Rock, North Little Rock and smaller cities in that area primarily, and the rest of the state to a lesser degree.

Such a facility is necessary, Stone said, if Central Arkansas cities intend to keep up with such cities as Memphis, Jackson, Oklahoma City and Tulsa. Stone, president of the Simmons First National Bank of Pine Bluff, said he would appoint a committee to study the feasibility of the project.

Such a regional facility is strongly encouraged by federal aviation authorities and probably would be supported in Washington, Stone said.

He said 7,000 to 8,000 acres of land would be needed for the airport and industries attached and that he believed revenue bonds could be issued to match available federal funds to meet the cost.

we took this big V8 and put it in the '64 Chevy II...

Chevy II Now 4-Door Station Wagon, Luggage carrier and chrome, optional at extra cost.

WOW!

A pretty potent mixture.

The car's the same size. As trim and easy to handle as ever.

But now you can have a full-grown V8 in it. A Turbo-Fire 283* that turns out 195 hp.

It's the kind of machine that doesn't take much coaxing to get in motion. (Especially when you consider it has over 60% more power than the Chevy II that won North America's toughest rally last spring — the Shell "4,000.")

And for '64 we've also added a choice of a 4-speed Synchro-Mesh transmission* with a floor-mounted shift.

But in case your tastes run somewhat milder, we should point out you have a pick of three other engines as well. The standard 4 (on 100 Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6*.

And, whatever one you decide on, it's reassuring to know you're getting a car built with the pure and simple integrity of a Chevy II. (Upkeep has been even further reduced this year by such refinements as larger self-adjusting brakes.)

It's a simple matter to spot one of these '64's by styling touches like the new grille design and trim accents. But we'd like to suggest a more memorable way. Drop down to your dealer's and drive one.

A STRANGER SHADOWS HER!

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: I am terrified by a man who constantly bothers me. I am 20 and live in a small apartment by myself. This man follows me home from work nights. When I try to get a look he vanishes. I've called the police and they followed me home but the man didn't appear. He seems to know when I have police protection. This person calls me on the phone and says terrible things. I hang up and he calls back. I've had my telephone number changed three times and unlisted in the directory, giving it only to persons who needed it, such as my parents and fiancée. Somehow, this man always gets the new number.

I would move from this dreadful city were it not for the fact that I have an excellent job which I could not hope to duplicate elsewhere. The police don't seem able to do anything. Last week two filthy letters came from my terrorizer. I'm fast becoming a nervous wreck, fearful of my own shadow, afraid to step outside the door, answer the phone or open my mail. Please help. —Terri

Mrs. S. E. Gilliam returned to her home in El Dorado Wednesday after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Robert LaGrone.

Mrs. W. W. Winkler of Shreveport has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Comer Boyett, and Mr. Boyett.

Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Anthony, Jr. of Little Rock spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Foster in Hope and the Anthony, Srs. in El Dorado.

Mrs. Paul Rawson and Mrs. Arthur Wimmell went to Little Rock Tuesday for the performance of Mantovani and his orchestra at the Robinson Auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wright has just returned home after spending the past week end in Little Rock where they toured the State Capital and other points of interest. They stayed in the Magnolia Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Thrash have returned from a weeks vacation to the Ozarks where they were accompanied by the Lloyd Thrash family of Richardson, Texas.

tive to the case. Three months later the detective found him—a poor wisp of a demented creature whose only home was bar rooms. After five years in the State Insane Asylum the man recovered sufficiently to leave. I signed the release and offered to help him find a job.

"I've already got one caring for the grounds here," he said, "and like it fine. This asylum is home to me."

Dear Helen: We two 13-year-old girls were shocked at your answer to "Modern Son" that he would be a credit to his country if disciplined strictly by his mother. If that mother would give her son a little more freedom he wouldn't feel as though he were different from his friends. America is supposed to be a land of freedom. Isn't he entitled to some — Two Teens Who Believe in Freedom

Dear Teens: It depends upon your definition of freedom. Those teens who wrecked that beautiful guest house at Fernanda Wamamaker Wetherill's coming out party last September were asserting freedom of a sort. If their parents had been firm disciplinarians, their names wouldn't be a matter of police record today. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Manners and Young People."

Dear Helen: Some half-witted snob recently called you old-fashioned. I think your advice very wise. This childish critic signed herself "Double Trouble-maker." She's the show-off type of which there is one in every school. But I notice that the girls with sweet personalities and ladylike manners have a lot more fun than those with wild reputations. Dangers Face Top 10 Teams This Weekend

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

The dangers of the road face four of the nation's top 10 college football teams this week and Navy Coach Wayne Hardin has turned psychologist in an effort to beat the hazard this Saturday at Notre Dame.

Fourth-ranked Navy, 5-1-0, is a favorite over the thrice-beaten Irish, 2-3-0, but the slick-talking coach wouldn't mind if it was the other way around. Underdogs have a way of coming up for these traditional battles.

Probably in the hopes of preventing a letdown by his Midies, following their 24-12 conquest of all-conquering Pitt last Saturday, Hardin has painted a gloomy picture of what it means to be a visiting team playing in the shadow of the Golden Dome.

"It's a definite disadvantage to play on that campus," said Hardin Wednesday.

"You're looking for The Gipper (legendary halfback George Gipp) Knute Rockne, and others that you know aren't really there. But it still bothers you."

The coach may have been a little fanciful about South Bend, but his players are fully aware of the extra pressures of playing away from home. Only a few weeks ago, lightly regarded Southern Methodist tumbled the Midies, 32-28, at Dallas.

Texas, 6-0-0, the Nation's No. 1 team and one of the four major college all-winners, faces the same SMU Mustangs in the Dallas Cotton Bowl. Third-ranked Mississippi, 4-0-1, invades the air of the Louisiana State Tigers, 5-1-0, at Baton Rouge, La., and eight-ranked Wisconsin, 4-1-0, journeys to East Lansing, Mich., for a joust with the resurgent Spartans, 3-1-1.

The other six members of the elite Top Ten are at home this week, and tickled silly the schedule gives them the break.

That's especially true for Illinois, 4-0-1, the No. 2 team which entertains Purdue, 3-2-0; fifth-ranked Auburn, 5-0-0, which has Florida, 3-2-1, as its guest; seventh-ranked Alabama, 5-1-0, which has Mississippi State, 4-1-1, coming for a visit; and 10th-ranked Pitt, 4-1-0, which has plenty of trouble heading its way from the traveling Orangemen of Syracuse, 5-1-0.

Ninth-ranked Ohio State, 3-1-1, probably doesn't need the advantages of home cooking against Iowa, 2-2-1, but isn't complaining. Sixth-ranked Oklahoma, 4-1-0, appears to have a softy this year in Colorado, 2-4-0, but still is glad it doesn't have to take on the Buffs in the thin air of the Rockies.

Kemp Named Top Player by AL Pros

By MARVIN R. PIKE
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Jack Kemp's confidence may be the reason he's the Player of the Week in the American Football League.

Like most of the 29,243 persons in the stands, Kemp figured he had blown the Buffalo Bills' chance to beat the Boston Patriots last Saturday night.

Hadn't the Patriots driven him from Boston's 11-yard line to the 40 with about two minutes left in the game? And didn't Mack Yoho miss a 47-yard field goal attempt that would have broken a 21-21 tie?

But Kemp, chosen by The Associated Press, recalled today that he had not given up hope. "I thought we'd make it," he said. "We'd at least get close enough for a field goal if not a touchdown."

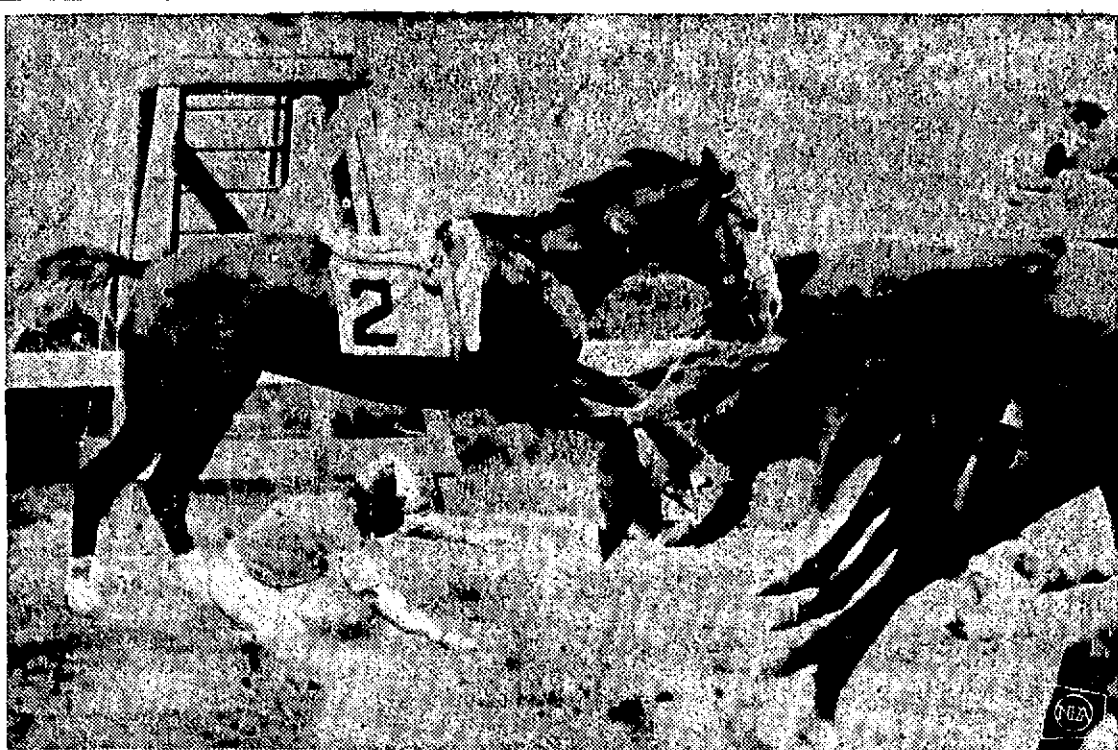

That view, he said, came when Buffalo regained the ball.

Tittle Is Pro Player of the Week

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Player of the Week in the National Football League has to be just one man—Yelberton Abraham Tittle. His probing of Cleveland's defenses with short passes and running plays and his brilliant automatics under heavy pressure is a "must" game were outstanding.

"Y. A. called as good a game as I ever saw a quarterback call," said Allie Sherman, his coach on the New York Giants and a former quarterback himself. "When I speak of calling a good game I don't mean passing on a first and 10 situation or not running on second and three. I mean taking a game plan, executing it and moving your stuff around. To top it off he is a great competitor."

All pro football fans must know by now that the Giants, under Tittle, snapped Cleveland's six-game winning streak last Sunday 33-6. Tittle, who turned 37 on Oct. 24, ignored his favorite weapon, the long ball or bomb. Instead he "chucked it out" as Sherman called it, passing accurately when the occasion demanded and sending Alex Webster, Hugh McElhenry, Phil King and Joe Morrison along the ground.

Tittle hit with eight straight passes in one streak, completed 14 of 20 in the first half and wound up the day with 21 of 31 for 214 yards and two touchdowns. He was named Star of the Week by The Associated Press.

If there was a Lineman of the Week category in the pro ranks, it would have to be Henry Jordan of the Green Bay Packers. The big defensive tackle made three key plays in the last quarter that saved the day for the Packers in a 34-20 victory over Baltimore.

on its 28-yard line with 28 seconds to go.

"We had set up the play on the sideline," Kemp said as he described how Charlie Ferguson, a former Minnesota Viking, was instructed to sprint downfield and then cut to his left while Kemp made his throw.

Ferguson, a 6-foot-5 end filling in for Bill Miller, reached out, gathered in the ball on the Boston 20 and raced across the goal line untouched for Buffalo's 28-21 victory.

Earlier, Kemp scored three touchdowns, each on one-yard line smashes.

Frogs Will Have to Stop Bears' Trull

NEW YORK (AP) — When Baylor plays host to Texas Christian Saturday, the Horned Frogs will have to stop the nation's top football passing combination, Don Trull and Larry Elkins, according to NCAA Service Bureau statistics released today.

Three weeks ago, Elkins was far down the list in pass receptions which was headed by Tulsa's John Simmons. Simmons was runner-up to Vern Burke of Oregon State last season and it was assumed these two would battle it out again for the championship.

But that has changed now. While both Elkins and Simmons have made 34 catches in five games, Elkins is recognized as the leader since he has more yardage with 475 yards and seven touchdowns as compared to 449 yards and two touchdowns for Simmons.

Meanwhile, Burke has moved into fourth place with 26 catches in six games, two behind Stan Crissom of Duke in the same number of games.

Cosmo Iacavazzi of Princeton, Dave Casinelli of Memphis State and Toledo's Jim Gray, last week's leader, share the scoring lead with 48 points.

Top Battle Shaping at Aqueduct

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Kelso will be missing from Saturday's $100,000 Man O' War Stakes at Aqueduct, but one of the top grass course battles of the year shaped up today with announcement that Never Bend will meet The Axe 2nd and others in the 1 1/2-mile grind.

Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim, owner of Never Bend, and trainer Woody Stephens had liberated between the Man O' War and the $50,000 Trenton Handicap at Garden State Park. Never Bend was the 1962 champion 2-year-old, and in his last start whipped Chateaugay in the Yankee Handicap at Suffolk Downs.

A field of 10 looms for the Aqueduct event, with Never Bend and Greentree Stable's The Axe 2nd the standouts. The Axe won several major grass races this year, and on Oct. 19 took the Canadian Championship at Toronto's Woodbine, breaking the course record.

Other probabilities are Hill-N-Dale Farm's Bronze Babu, one of the nation's most consistent grass specialists, F. Eugene Dixon's Will I Rule, winner of the Saratoga Cup; Flagler Farm's Charabanc, Harbor View Farm's David K. Long Island Handicap winner; McLane Farm's Hellenic Hero, who took a division of the Knickerbocker on the turf; Mrs. R. L. Dotter's Guadalupe; Little M. Farm's Sunrise Flight, and Mrs. Ann Peppers' Mr. Consistency. There also is a possibility that a 3-year-old filly, John M. Schiff's Goofed, will start. She won the $50,000 Landies Handicap last Saturday.

Mamuel Yeaza, Guggenheim's contract rider, ends a 10-day suspension on Saturday and will ride Never Bend. Johnny Roiz handles The Axe as usual.

Porks Trying to Prevent Injuries

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coach Frank Broyles put the Arkansas football team in sweat clothes Wednesday—a day earlier than usual — to prevent injuries.

The Razorbacks usually work in pads until Thursday. The only other time the team has worked out in sweat clothes on a Wednesday since the season began was prior to the game with Texas.

The Texas A&M game at Little Rock opens the November stretch drive. Broyles has not lost a game in November since coming to Arkansas.

Gary Howard, Mike Parker and Jim John were named tri-captains for the battle with A&M Saturday night.

Individual Honors in AIC Statistics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arkansas A&M's Ronnie Higgins and Arkansas State Teachers' Bobby Tiner are getting stiffer competition for individual rushing and passing honors in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference race.

Not too long ago they were hands-down leaders. Higgins still leads the way with 472 yards, but pulling closer are Southern State's Jerry Freppon (425 yards) and Henderson's Buddy Wells (416 yards).

Freppon and Wells have played one less game than Higgins. Tiner, with 564 yards on 3 completions, leads the passing statistics, but Arkansas Tech's Don Beebe has gained 533 yards on 39 completions. Tiner leads Beebe 733 yards to 564 yards in total offense.

Fort Smith and Little Rock Hall collide Friday night in what is "THE" game for the team that plans to stay alive in the Big Ten Conference football race.

Pine Bluff, head and shoulders above the rest of the league at this point, has only one tough foe blocking the path to a second straight championship: Little Rock Central.

But the Tigers and the league-leading Zebras, also defending conference champions, don't get together until Nov. 15, at Pine Bluff.

The chances of Hall winning the title, even if it wins this game, are small. The Warriors went down to Pine Bluff and Texarkana — in the game that took the unbelievability of this Razorback outfit.

Nobody really believed Texarkana had it this year, but the conquest of Hall proved that Texarkana's key ties and victories were not the product of fluke.

Fort Smith, with a loss to bear, cannot be considered in the race if it loses this game. They'll play it on this basis: "Damn the torpedoes! Full speed ahead!"

And, though Fort Smith needs it most, Hall has something extra when the stops are out. Besides, there may be a little Halloween left over.

LITTLE ROCK HALL 9, Fort Smith 7. By three safeties, or something wild like that.

BLYTEVILLE 20, Hot Springs 7. An easy one for the Chicks.

TEXARKANA 13, El Dorado 0. Proving themselves all over again.

JONESBORO 7, Newport 6. The nod to the newest member of Class AAA.

LITTLE ROCK CENTRAL 14, Conway 0. Two Big Ten foes in a row is too much.

PINE BLUFF 25, North Little Rock 7. The Cats needed a lot of luck to down Conway.

Now, Class AA; Springfield, Mo., Hillcrest 7, Fayetteville 0. Second straight loss to the Missouri city.

Siloam Springs 13, Harrison 6. Two passing touchdowns.

Rogers 10, Springdale 5. Calling it upset.

Little Rock Catholic 13, Subiaco 0. The Rockets get what ought to be an annual breather, but never is.

Forrest City 14, Stuttgart 0. Better defensive work.

Wynne 7, Helena 0. The Indians are winless in region play.

Paragould 17, Pocahontas 7. The higher classification.

West Memphis 13, Munford, Tenn., 0. Against better judgment.

Benton 27, Jacksonville 7. Too much muscle.

Morrilton 7, Mabelvale 0. Or worse.

Russellville 17, Searcy 0. The Cyclone is unbeaten.

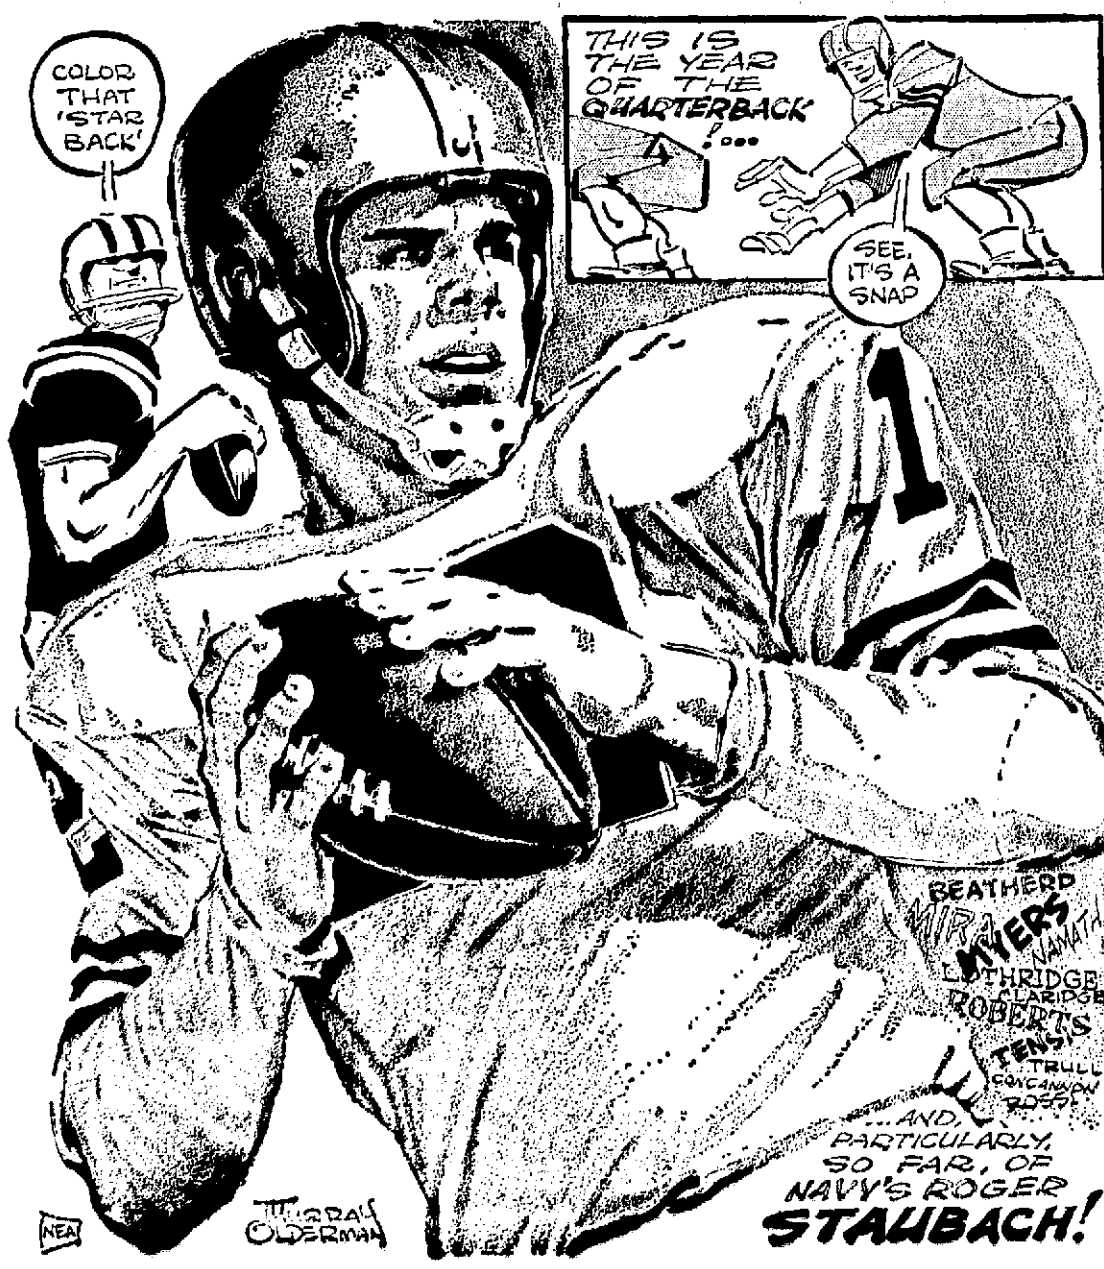

Hope 24, Camden 6. The records tell the tale.

Smackover 6, Crossett 0. Too many Bucks.

Camden Fairview 7, Magnolia 0. Despite the records.

Malvern 7, Sheridan 5. But watch out!

NAVY'S 'STARBACK'

Blevins Takes Three Games From Emmet

Blevins had little trouble downing three Emmet teams Tuesday night. The Junior girls posted a 29-25 win in a closed contest. Dot Steed had 15 for Blevins and Mary Bonds 14. For Emmet Carolyn Sams was high with 12.

The Blevins senior girls had a difficult time posting a 38 to 34 victory over Emmet. Blevins trailed 18 to 11 at the half, tied it up 28-all in the third period and outscored Emmet in final round 10 to 6. Delaine Bonds made 17 for the winners.

The senior boys game was a runaway in the final half, the score was 96 to 46 after leading at the halftime by only 35 to 30. Gene Steed had 15 and Doug Neece 14 for Blevins.

Arkansas A&M Ranked 12th

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Arkansas A&M College of Monticello is ranked 12th in this week's National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics football poll.

The Boll Weevils are untied and unbeaten in seven games. They play Arkansas State Teachers College, the defending Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference football champion, in Conway Saturday night. Winner of the game is expected to capture the AIC crown.

A&M is ranked behind Northern Illinois; St. John's, Minn.; College of Emporia, Kan.; Prairie View A & I; Northern State, S.D.; Kearney State, Neb.; Northeastern Okla. State; Lewis and Clark; Texas A&I; Southwest Texas State; and Florida A&M.

Guernsey Boys Win at Spring Hill

Guernsey boys took a pair from Spring Hill at Spring Hill Tuesday night but the Senior girls lost.

Griffis scored 14, Jones 10 and Evans 9 as the Guernsey Junior boys racked up a 41 to 12 victory. Monte Garner made four for Spring Hill.

The Spring Hill Senior girls, led by the 24 points scoring of Litta Powell, posted a 35 to 19 victory over Guernsey. Bozarth Kidd and Butler excelled at guarding. Elaine Adams made 9 for Guernsey and Jane Black 7.

Guernsey Senior boys posted a 59 to 53 overtime win, outthrusting the host team at the free throw line. Spring Hill got only 7 of 19 free tosses while Guernsey picked up 15 of 25 and that was the difference.

Jessie Tullis made 23 and Gene Ravenscraft 13 for the winners. Gary Kidd tossed in 22 and Dennis Polk 18 for Spring Hill.

The next Spring Hill home game is Nov. 1 against Laneburg.

Top Small College Teams Listed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Northern Illinois, with its record-breaking passing and catching combination of George Bork and Hugh Rohrschneider, and the classy Delaware Mud Hens dominated the voting today in The Associated Press' weekly small college football poll.

The all-conquering Midwest-ers trounced Eastern Illinois 43-0 for their seventh victory of the season and maintained a solid hold on the No. 1 spot. They received three first-place votes and five for second from the special national panel of eight selectors for a total of 85 points. A week ago Northern Illinois received 66 points. Points are counted on a basis of 10 for first, nine for second, etc.

Delaware slipped past beaten Florida A&M and took over second with 55 points. The Mud Hens, who whipped Connecticut, a major college, 26-14 for their fifth victory, received three first-place votes and were named on all eight ballots for 55 points.

Florida A&M suffered its first defeat, 14-12 to Tennessee State, but still received 43 points. This was good for third place.

All of the other members of the Top Ten with the exception of unbeaten McNeese State, La., were held over for another week. Massachusetts, a powerful Eastern minor, walloped Boston University, a major team, 21-0, and gained eighth place. The Redmen have won five of six games and tied unbeaten Harvard in the other. They were not in the first ten a week ago.

Buddy Dial Off to His Best Start

By LOU PRATO

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pass-catching whiz Buddy Dial of the Pittsburgh Steelers, off to the best start of his career, would like nothing better than to grab the National Football League pass-receiving crown this season—well almost nothing.

"Dadgum if Ah wouldn't like to win that (title)," Dial mused in his cheerful Texas drawl. "But Ah also want to play on a championship team and we have the chance this year."

"Ah don't know which one Ah want more," he added. "Maybe Ah can have both."

Maybe. But not likely. He has a better chance at the receiving honor than the Steelers have at the NFL championship.

The Steelers currently are fourth in the Eastern Division 1 1/2 games behind front-running Cleveland. They're still in contention but with games left with the league's four powers — Green Bay, Cleveland, Chicago and New York — the odds against staying there are high.

But Dial, the former Rice All-America, is in an excellent position to capture the first pass-receiving title in his sensational five-year NFL career.

After seven games, Dial, the good-looking ex-choir boy, is second in pass receptions with 36, eight less than St. Louis' Bobby Joe Conrad. But his 751 yards gained is 120 yards better than the next man in that category—fellow Bobby Mitchell of Washington.

Dial, noted for his brilliant faking maneuvers and his deft hands, also is tied with St. Louis' Sonny Randle and Chicago's Mike Ditka with seven touchdown passes. And with 42 points, he's tied for seventh in scoring.

Celtics Need 11 Wins to Equal Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The champion Boston Celtics need 11 more victories to equal the longest winning streak at the start of the season in the National Basketball Association. It's a long haul, but the way the Celtics have been going they might do it.

With Johnny Havlicek and Tommy Heinsohn leading the attack the unbeaten Celtics won their fourth straight Wednesday night with a 109-102 march over the Detroit Pistons.

In other games the Philadelphia 76ers defeated the St. Louis Hawks won their fourth in a row by walloping the New York Knicks 121-104 and Cincinnati beat the Los Angeles Lakers 115-107. The defeat knocked the Lakers out of first place in the Western Division. St. Louis took over.

The old Washington club reeled off 15 straight back in November and early December, 1948, to set the record for the longest winning streak at the start of a season. Boston is playing one game at a time and not worrying about any records, but the Celtics won 17 straight during the 1960 season, so it isn't something they haven't done before.

Ten Teams Are Still Unbeaten

Ten Arkansas high school football teams remain unbeaten at this point in the 1963 season, but only eight are untied and unbeaten.

Unbeaten and untied are Harding Academy of 2B, Piggett of 3A, Fort Smith St. Anne's of 4A, Danville of 4B, Holly Grove of 6B-West, Clarendon of 6B-East, Dierks of 7B-West and Warren of 8A-North.

Pine Bluff, leader in the Big Ten Conference (Class AAA), is 7-0-1, and Russellville, Region 3AA leader, is 6-0-2.

U.S. Wants to Sell Grain to Anyone

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department foreign trade officials said today they hoped that Eastern European countries will turn to this country for apparently needed supplies of rice and vegetable oil seed products during the fall and winter.

They said reports from Soviet Bloc countries indicate that oil-seed crops grown there—mainly soyflower and rapeseed—had suffered from drought along with wheat, corn and other crops.

But so far, they said, there has been no indication that the European Communist countries will seek substantial supplies of these crops. Poland has bought a small quantity of rice and is reported in trade circles to be interested in small additional purchases.

An export license was issued Tuesday for export of 5,512 tons of soybean cake and meal—used as a high protein supplement in livestock feed—to Hungary. The sales price was reported at $512,000.

"We have ample supplies of soybean and soybean products and of rice," said a top-ranking official in the department's Foreign Agricultural Service. "These are no restrictions against sales to European Communist countries. Only time will tell whether we make any substantial sales of the products to the Soviet Bloc areas."

In recent years, both Poland and Yugoslavia have obtained small amounts of soybean oil under the Food-For-Peace Program.

The Soviet Union produces little rice. Until 1961, it obtained about 500,000 tons annually from Communist areas in Asia, mostly from Red China. But exports from these sources to the Soviet Bloc have virtually disappeared because of short crops.

Thus, officials said, it would appear that the Soviet Union will need to turn elsewhere for rice supplies.

Rice and wheat are sold abroad under an export subsidy because the farm price support is above the world price level. The Soviet Bloc is eligible to buy U.S. rice and wheat at the subsidized prices.

But in the case of rice, there is no requirement that it be shipped in U.S. ships to the extent that they are available, a requirement which is holding up sales of wheat because rates of U.S. shipping concerns are higher than rates charged by foreign boats.

This year's U.S. rice crop is of record proportions and is supplemented by a relatively large carryover supply from past crops. Likewise, the soybean crop is the largest on record. Large quantities of soybeans and soybean oil and meal have been sold in recent years to western Europe.

"The skids are clear for sale of U.S. rice and soybeans and Bloc nations," the official said. "I think we will know before the end of this year whether they will want any of these products from us and just about how much."

Restrictions Lifted on Stone Haulers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Highway Commission lifted weight restrictions today on about eight miles of secondary road in Southeast Arkansas to relieve a hardship on two contractors hauling stone for an Arkansas River construction project.

The commission increased the load limit on Highway 1 from Gillett to its junction with Highway 169 and on 169 from the junction to Arkansas Post National Monument from 40,000 to 64,000 pounds.

These two segments were among a number of secondary roads on which the Highway Commission recently exercised its power to reduce the secondary road weight limit from the legal maximum of 64,000 pounds.

Highway Director Ward Goodman said today the commission later learned that the McGeorge Construction Co. of Pine Bluff and the Lahr Construction Co. of Gould already were working on contracts at the time the reduction was made.

"They bid these contracts on prices drawn up under the belief that they could haul 64,000 pounds," Goodman said.

"The reduction came in the middle of their jobs. Reduction on other roads should not be necessary since other contractors had notice before they bid that the roads would be posted," Goodman said.

Army Engineers, for whom the contractors are working, had indicated that the restrictions might cause some help in the river work.

Bankrupt Plant Sale on Schedule

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The withdrawal Monday of a $475,000 advance will not alter plans for public auction Nov. 19 of the Blytheville plant of the bankrupt Scott Valve Co.

Referee in Bankruptcy Arnold Adams said Monday Nibco, Inc. of Elkhart, Ind., had submitted the bid as a starting point for public bidding at the auction.

Lee Ward of Jonesboro, attorney for Nibco, said the offer was withdrawn because the vice president who made it did not have the authority of the firm's president or board of directors.

Nibco was the only bidder at a federal District Court hearing Friday held to receive advance bids.

Ward said Nibco still planned to bid for the plant at the auction.

Congress Not Willing to Police Self

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five years ago Sen. Richard L. Neuberger, Oregon Democrat, complained that nobody polices the policeman, that Congress can investigate the whole area of government but nobody polices Congress.

For example: The head of a government department must rid himself of his stock before the Senate, to prevent conflict of interest, lets him take office. This is to prevent his profiting from some company he may do business with.

But a member of Congress can have all kinds of outside interests, and even fight for a law to help those interests, but he doesn't have to rid himself of anything or reveal anything about his total income.

Neuberger said: "I fear it has a corroding effect on government generally when a member of the President's Cabinet can be ordered to jettison his corporate portfolios by senators who themselves may be dabbling in oil, cotton futures, television, hotel chains or uranium."

"If federal commissioners are to be pilloried for accepting airplane tickets to Palm Beach, how can senators and representatives continue profitable associations with law firms retained by banks, railroads, labor unions and utility companies?"

In short Neuberger was calling on Congress, which has passed laws to prevent conflict of interest on the part of federal officials and other government employees, to pass a conflict-of-interest law on itself.

Congress ignored him with great calmness, as it has ignored similar proposals by other members of both houses for years. Recently two former members of Congress were convicted of influence - peddling while they were in Congress.

Neuberger died in 1960. His wife, now Sen. Maurice Neuberger, also an Oregon Democrat, was elected to succeed him that same year. Last week she picked up where her husband left off.

She and Sen. Clifford P. Case, New Jersey Republican, asked consideration of a bill they had introduced requiring top government officers, members of Congress and their staff to report their yearly incomes, including gifts of substance and assets and liabilities and their financial transactions to the comptroller general, with these reports available to press and public.

Case has made this kind of proposal repeatedly and, like the late Neuberger, has been ignored.

He and the present Sen. Neuberger made their pitch in a letter to Sen. B. Everett Jordan, North Carolina Democrat who is chairman of the Senate Rules Committee which today begins an investigation of a former Senate employee, Robert G. Baker.

Baker, who was paid about $20,000 a year, resigned this month as secretary of the Senate Democrats after newspaper disclosure that he seemed to have an extraordinary number of outside financial interests.

His duties included a wide variety of personal and business favors for Senate Democrats. In addition to his various outside business interests he had a law practice.

What started the disclosures about him was a $300,000 civil damage suit filed against him by the Capitol Vending Co. which charged he had accepted commissions of $5,600 to put its machines in plants working for the government and then had ended the deal when Capitol refused to sell out to another vending company in which Baker is alleged to have held stock. The Jordan committee's hearing was held today.

Integration Fight in a Small Town

EDITOR'S NOTE — Desegregation efforts in the South had concentrated mostly on larger urban centers until last summer when racial unrest spread into smaller towns, the rural areas—the grassroots. Don McKee, Associated Press staff writer, visited three small Southern towns facing civil rights drives. This is the first in a series on what he found at the grassroots level.

By DON MCKEE
CLINTON, La. (AP) — Wide-

ings on Baker's financial activities were to be held behind closed doors.

Mr. Neuberger and Case told Jordan that if their bill on financial disclosures by members of Congress and their employees had been law Congress would not have had to be informed about Baker by outside sources.

While Congress has shown practically no interest over the years in proposals like those of Neuberger and Case, it has been prompt to get indignant about wrongdoing in the executive branch and has had full-scale investigations.

Right after President Kennedy took office in 1961 he asked Congress to tighten and broaden the laws against conflict of interest as it applies to employees of the executive branch. The law was passed quickly.

But there's hardly a chance in a billion that Congress will do anything about itself.

brimmed, Western-style hat clamped tight on his head, the judge strode toward the ancient courthouse, a landmark of 1838 vintage.

Someone spoke to him, but Judge John R. Rarich retorted: "Hell, I'm worried about Negroes—I got no time to talk."

For Rarich and about one-third of Clinton's 1,600 population, there was reason to worry. Negroes, comprising the other two-thirds of the population, had gone to the streets with their grievances for the first time.

Clinton, little more than a cluster of stores around the old courthouse, is typical of the Southern grassroots. Located in a cattle farming area of south Louisiana, it is only 25 miles south of the Mississippi line.

Change in racial customs is inconceivable to a large majority of the white minority which controls the economy and the government—as in other Southern towns.

A militant Negro group, jolting the town awake to racial issues, raised the threat of change that would leave no small town immune.

Perplexity and resentment prevail among the white residents; Negro spokesmen vow to keep up their drive, apparently triggered by a voter purge of six years ago.

The voter rolls of East Feliciana Parish, of which Clinton is the governmental seat, were purged after Henry Earl Palmer became the parish registrar.

At that time there were about 1,500 Negro voters among the 4,100 persons on the parish's poll list. Palmer said that since the purge, 2,600 white persons and 119 Negroes have re-registered.

"We don't discriminate," said

Palmer, who operates a dairy. "I enforce the law to the letter. I don't care if a thousand register if they pass the test."

Sheriff Arch V. Doughty said that before Palmer took office unqualified Negroes were registered.

"I doubt if some of them could even read," said Doughty.

Negro spokesmen protest that discrimination keeps them off the voter list. William Brown, 19, a college student from Tucson, Ariz., and a volunteer worker for the Congress of Racial Equality, said he believed some points in the test are administered illegally to Negroes.

Brown and other CORE workers began holding mass meetings in August to push voter registration. Rarich issued a restraining order against demonstrations.

The Negro unrest spilled into the streets Oct. 12-13 when pickets walked in front of four stores. The pickets were arrested.

"Our picketing," said Brown, "is aimed at voter registration—at some communication other than the courtroom."

But, as in similar situations, the Negro drive aimed at one issue then spread over other areas of discontent. With a high unemployment rate, Negroes want better jobs; they want racial talks.

"The variety store has a Negro clerk," said Brown. "He serves the customer, then the white manager rings up the sale. Negroes aren't allowed to use the cash register."

A Negro boycott has hurt business at several stores.

A merchant, I. G. McKnight, said: "At this stage, I'm not go-

Communist Book Attacks the U. S.

By JOHN M. NIGHTOWER

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—A Communist book on the newstands here begins with this attack on the United States: "The cost of living is always climbing. Why?"

"Is it because of increasing salaries?"

"No."

"It is because of imperialist exploitation."

The book is dedicated to Luis Carlos Prestes, leader of the Communist party in Brazil, and to Leonel Brizola, brother-in-law of President Joao Goulart.

Brizola has the reputation of being an ultranationalist leftist, but not an actual member of the Communist party.

The leftists and the Communists work hand-in-hand to attack and discredit the United States in this key South American country. The leftists evidently intend to get a foot ining to be surprised at what happens."

What can the Negroes hope to gain?

There's no chance of changing our customs," said McKnight.

But Emmett Collins, Negro clerk in a drugstore and the father of the local CORE chapter leader, said most of the Negroes support the drive in Clinton.

"I don't think they'll stop," Collins said.

both camps in the great world struggle by pulling Brazil apart from the United States and toward the Soviet Union. One highly placed U.S. authority said they seek to play Washington and Moscow against each other and get more aid for Brazil.

The Communist purpose, however, is different. Allied diplomats and a few Brazilian leaders, Gov. Carlos Lacerda foremost among them, feel the Communists are following a carefully developed strategy to take over the country.

These authorities see the strategy as a two-stage affair.

First, they reason, Prestes aims at alienating Brazil from the United States by hammering home the charge of "imperialist exploitation."

Second, he aims at creating closer ties between Brazil and the Soviet Union, "perhaps through Cuba, and then moving to seize power peacefully through Communists infiltrated in the government."

Although it is obvious that Brazilians generally are quite friendly to individuals from the United States—and there are many thousands in this country—it is also obvious that in politics the United States has few public defenders here.

That includes President Joao Goulart. Goulart's relations with American officials are further chilled by the fact that he spends his time playing Brazilian politics while the country burns with the fever of inflation and other problems go unsolved.

The Alliance for Progress is under constant Communist attack in South America, and in Brazil is tied in with the charge of U.S. imperialism. The attack

Appeals to Public to Stop Burning

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus urged Arkansians Tuesday to stop all outdoor burning until the forest fire threat decreases.

"The pall of smoke over Arkansas is becoming a serious traffic hazard," he said.

Even the smallest fires in fields of low-cut grass spread quickly to nearby forests because of winds, Faubus said.

His appeal followed a Forestry Commission report that a blaze on 250 acres along the Little Red River north of Searcy was being fought by firefighters.

Fred Lang, state forester, said the fire was one of several small fires that combined into a big one. He said the fires were the work of an arsonist.

He said 16 fires were put out Tuesday, but not before they burned 116 acres.

Trick and Treat Halloween Eve

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Halloween Eve provided both a trick and a treat for County Patrolman H. J. Buchignani.

Dr. Ted D. Ballard reported to county police that a small, lost trick-or-treater was at his home. Buchignani, dispatched to the Ballard home, discovered the lad was his 5-year-old son, Barry.

Industrial Exhibit to Go Abroad

By JACK LEFLER

AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A ship will sail out of New York harbor Nov. 21, carrying exhibits from major U.S. industries to 32 countries.

It will be named the Trade-fair and its purpose will be to promote trade between the United States and the countries it visits.

The $10-million vessel, 525 feet long and of about 20,000 tons displacement, has government support but is privately financed.

Rear Adm. John H. Morrill, Ret., president of the First United States World Trade Fair Ship, Inc., said of the project: "We believe that world peace and understanding among nations can best be achieved through personal contacts between peoples of the world and that this ship is one means by which closer social and business meetings can be made possible."

The itinerary includes London, Rotterdam, Hamburg, Marseilles, Bombay, Genoa, Singapore, Hong Kong, Tokyo, Sidney, Manila, Capetown and Buenos Aires.

Morrill said about one million trade buyers are expected to view the exhibits each year. Registration will be by invitation and the daily rate will be held to 4,000 to 5,000 visitors.

His estimate was based on studies of the market made by the Department of Commerce, independent research and the results of the Japanese floating trade fair ship, Sakuramaru, which sold $15 million of goods in 10 ports in four months.

The Trade-fair project is sponsored by 10 New York firms and has received support in Washington. Besides industrial firms, a number of states and the Departments of Commerce and Agriculture have indicated interest in contracting for space, according to Morrill.

Fire Damages Helena Plant

HELENA, Ark. (AP)—A fire more spectacular than damaging raged across the 135-foot high roof of the Arkansas Grain Corporation's new plant Monday night. It was put out early today.

The million and a half bushels of soybeans stored at the plant were not damaged. There were no injuries.

L. C. Carter of Stuttgart said it was impossible to figure the loss to the new plant, which went into operation this month but is still under construction. Carter said the fire did not affect the overall operation of the plant and he hoped to have it back in operation in 48 hours.

But fireman Johnny Abel estimated that damage would run from $60,000 to $70,000. Cause of the fire was not determined. Abel said it could have begun from a cigarette.

The fire started on the roof of the main buildings where belting operates conveyors. It destroyed the belting and conveyor motors.

Firemen had to use a construction crane to reach the fire, then put booster pumps into operation to get water to the flames.

Pine Bluff's Annex Gets Approval

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pine Bluff's efforts to annex 7.52 square miles east, south and west of the city got the approval of the Arkansas Supreme Court today.

The Supreme Court affirmed the holding of Circuit Judge Henry Smith in a suit filed against the city by W. S. Rogers and other residents of the Dew Drop community on Highway 65 west.

The Supreme Court said it was following its policy of upholding circuit court decisions in annexation cases unless there was substantial evidence to show that the territory should not be annexed.

All points on which Rogers and his co-petitioners sought reversal of the lower court decision were rejected. The Supreme Court said there was ample evidence that Pine Bluff could extend municipal services to the area and that most of the area was much more suitable for city purposes than for farming.

The Supreme Court affirmed a Clay Chancery Court ruling that Lillie Patrick Summers had a right to deed some property to her son, Herschel Patrick. A daughter, Dorothy Patrick Curtis, contended her mother had no right to execute a deed to the property because it had belonged to her late father, N. T. Summers, and not to the father and mother jointly.

The Union Chancery Court was affirmed in holding that a suit filed by Earline McCree Taylor to recover some property from Kary Haynie Goodwin was filed too late to be considered.

Mrs. Taylor was seeking to recover some property owned by herself and a former husband. It had been mortgaged after she was divorced from her husband and later was foreclosed and sold with Karey Goodwin obtaining the title. Mrs. Taylor contended she had not signed the mortgage and the sale was thus illegal.

The question of whether the foreclosure sale should have been held was not argued because of the court's ruling that the legal time for filing the suit had expired.

Gas Contracts Approval Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Western Gas Co. asked the state Public Service Commission today to approve contracts under which it will supply natural gas to the University of Arkansas and six industries in Northwest Arkansas.

The contracts set rates for the gas and PSC approval is required before they can go into effect.

The industrial contracts covered in the application are with Ozark Poultry Products of Siloam Springs, Campbell Soup Co. of Fayetteville, Eureka Brick and Tile Co., Pet Milk Co. of Fayetteville and plants of the National Dairy Products Corp. in Benton and Carroll counties.

Search for Missing Tug Called Off

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) — After nine days of fruitless search in the Atlantic for the missing tug Meitowax, the Coast Guard ended its hunt Tuesday.

The tug disappeared between New York and Charleston, S.C. She was last heard from Oct. 20 when she radioed her position as 50 miles off Norfolk, Va., sailing southward to the area where hurricane Ginny was born off the Carolina coast.

The 105-foot Meitowax carried a crew of four.

Board of Education

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas School Boards Association has invited more than 250 new members of school boards across the state to a meeting to help them learn more about their duties.

The meeting will be held Saturday at the University of Arkansas Graduate Center at Little Rock. All the new members were elected to school boards in September.

Harvey McGeorge of Pine Bluff is president of the state School Boards Association.

Happenings in Life in Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN

Associated Press Staff Writer.

Dr. Thomas H. Campbell and his son, Rev. Thomas D. Campbell, could well greet each other, "Hello, Mr. President."

That's what they are — the elder Campbell president of the Cumberland Presbyterian Theological Seminary in McKenize, Tenn., the younger man president of the student body at the institution.

Rev. Campbell has been pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Batesville since June 1961. He plans to move his family there after this school term.

A couple of parakeets in Little Rock are classical music lovers. All last winter when the man of the house worked nights and was home days he would play classical records to while time away. The parakeets often had the run of the house.

This year, the situation was reversed and the wife kept trying to get the birds to come out of the cage. The door remained open for days, but they wouldn't budge—until one day she put a classical record on the phonograph.

Out flew the birds.

It's a ritual now.

An east Arkansas paper is framing a request for a story it couldn't print.

From one of the rural areas it serves came this request: "Please put this in the news (Name) Church (Address) is in the need of a pastor. (Name) and (Name) ran the pastor off. Thanking you in advance."

And in Memphis, a city commissioner ran into a youth who might one day be a budding businessman.

He asked a six-year-old boy to give out emery boards to ladies in the audience and gave the youth a dime.

The lad came back a little later and asked for more of the campaign gadgets. He had a handful of coins with him.

He's sold the boards and made a profit on both ends.

Diem Has Non-Red Opposition

EDITOR'S NOTE — In Viet Nam, religion often takes on the coloring of politics. The "Buddhist crisis" of the last few months was developed into more than a matter of monks and pagodas. AP correspondent William L. Ryan, currently on a tour of Southeast Asia, cuts through some of the underbrush in this dispatch.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
A Special Correspondent

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—In a corner of a dimly lit barroom, a young Vietnamese whispers a contemptuous remark about the government.

His companion asks with alarm: "Are you a VC?" "That's the way everyone refers to the Viet Cong Communists."

"No," says the first, with a grin. "I'm just a Buddhist." He is not really a Buddhist, but his reply points up what President Ngo Dinh Diem, his brother Ngo Dinh Nhu and their regime have done for themselves.

Diem has brought to real life the specter he feared most—a non-Communist opposition. The Buddhist affair has provided a rallying cause.

Buddhist leaders who oppose the government have been silenced or jailed. The only leaders remaining who can speak for their brethren are those known as the "tame Buddhists"—people who do not oppose the regime.

Like almost everything else in this mixed-up land, the Buddhist question is befogged by a cloud of contradictions.

Is this a religious issue? There are those who will tell you Buddhism is not a religion in the first place but a moral system. Buddha did not found a church.

The President is a Roman Catholic. His elder brother is archbishop of Hue, in central Viet Nam, where the Buddhist crisis began in May. The government dug up an old law at the time the Buddhists were celebrating the birthday of Lord Buddha, and forbade them from flying Buddhist flags. Only government flags would be permitted. Police went about Hue taking flags down. Buddhists staged a protest demonstration. The government broke it up, and either from concussion grenades or police bullets—eight or nine persons were killed.

In the precepts of Buddhism, killing of any living creature is a great wrong. Yet, an aged Buddhist priest seated himself at a busy Saigon intersection, let himself be doused with gasoline and set fire to himself. His flaming suicide became a symbol of Buddhist protest. Four more monks and a nun followed his example later.

It is difficult to say how many Buddhists live in South Viet Nam and whether they truly make up a majority. In all Viet Nam—north and south—there are 15 million who might call themselves Buddhists, according to a French authority. The majority of practicing Buddhists may now be in South Viet Nam, where there are about 1.5 million Catholics. But what kind of Buddhists are these?

Mai Tho Truyen, president of the Saigon Buddhist Association, says Buddhism over the years became a hodgepodge of many things, merging with Taoism, Confucianism, animism and polytheism.

Buddhism was stronger in Tonkin—North Viet Nam—than it was in Annam. Many Annamites who call themselves Buddhists never performed an act of Buddhism in their lives, says Mai Tho Truyen. They do, however, have the oriental respect for the temple.

Thus, when government forces raided the Xa Loi pagoda in Saigon, it sent a shock wave through the capital and other cities. People who seldom paid any attention to the faith began calling themselves Buddhists. Students took up the cause.

The more the government tried to repress the Buddhists, the more it got itself into hot water, and the more repression seemed to be needed.

Diem and his brother Nhu seem interested primarily in security. This means cracking down on any breath of opposition, no matter what its label.

The regime has tried to place the "leftist" and even "Communist" label on the Buddhists. Few give it any credence. In fact, most politically aware people in Saigon are convinced that the regime would be just as harsh on a Roman Catholic should the Catholic show signs of opposing the government. Some have felt the regime's hand in the past.

The full effects of the regime's clash with the Buddhists may not have been felt yet. The opposition it has rallied remains silent for the moment in a situation of extraordinarily tight and efficient police state control. If and when resentment bursts forth, there is a good chance it will be much more than a Buddhist explosion.

Foot Care For Students

For most students the school year means hurried walks to and from classes, frequent stair climbing, fast-paced gym sessions—and tired feet!

The wise student, therefore, establishes a footcare program with a year-round beauty and health routine. To help you, Dr. William M. Scholl, world famous foot authority offers these tips:

Keep feet clean—bathe them daily. Pay attention to backs of heels and between toes. Rub briskly with a dry towel and then apply foot powder.

In addition, apply soft cushioning pads to tender spots, corns or calluses. Also wear proper shoes—sturdy leather shoes with firm arch support and low heel are best for daily wear. Use foot powder—daily applications in the shoes help absorb excessive foot perspiration.

This easy foot care routine should eliminate most problems dealing with the feet.

In the News Around the World

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—The Southeast Asia Treaty Organization's top military advisers met in a closed session today to review the eight-nation organization's defense plans.

The agenda for the talks—the 19th such gathering which the advisers hold semiannually—was kept a secret as usual. But preconference comments by chief delegates left no doubt that the order of business would include fresh looks at developments in South Viet Nam and Laos.

The U.S. delegation to the meeting was headed by Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific.

MARTIGUES, France (AP)—Police said today they had found four tons of arms in a vacant house near this town in southern France.

The authorities declined to give any details as they began an inventory of the weapons. There was speculation that the arms were stocked by the anti-Gaullist Secret Army Organization, which had opposed Algerian independence. The terrorist group has been largely inactive for the past year.

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Twenty conspirators plotted to kill President-elect Chung Hee Park at the Seoul railroad station 11 days ago, high sources in the military junta said today.

Five of the plotters have been arrested, they reported. The sources said the assassination plot was discovered and Park got off his train about a mile south of the station.

ROME (AP)—Administrative and technical employees in all Italian government offices started a two-day strike today for civil service reforms. They also want fringe benefit payments included in their overall salary so they will get higher pensions.

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—Pakistan's foreign minister says the immediate danger of a conflict with India over a village on the Kashmir ceasefire line appears to have subsided.

Foreign Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto added Monday that the overall situation in Kashmir State, claimed by both countries, remains dangerous.

Pakistan has accused India of massing troops in the neighborhood of Chaknot village, which is held by Pakistan. In India countered with charges of war-like acts by the Pakistanis.

Rules Man Can Serve on Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The attorney general's office held today that Elbert Wharton can continue to serve on the Faulkner County board of education. Board president Audie J. Lynch asked for an attorney general's opinion because Wharton, who was appointed to the board to fill a vacancy, tired but failed to run for the unexpired term in the Sept. 24 school election.

Lynch said petitions were filed to place Wharton's name on the ballot, but it was omitted through an oversight. The attorney general's office said state law provides that a board members serve until his successor is elected and installed in the office so Wharton can keep the position and run for it in next year's school election.

Figures It Was Another Variety Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP)—Television, ever eager to bring blasé viewers new experiences, sometimes takes a tumble.

It is doubtful whether television can ever persuade us that it is more fun to look at a party than to go to one. NBC tried to Sunday night and failed.

The "April in Paris Ball" in New York Friday night looked like a pretty dull affair from my armchair, but maybe it simply defied the cameras. A taped account occupied an hour of air time.

The formal entertainment consisted of music by such entertainers as Liza Minnelli, Frank Sinatra Jr. and Peter Duchin, all bright young second-generation talents, but it was the sort of thing to be found almost any night on a TV variety show.

Lisa Kirk, who acted as sort of hostess and guide mentioned all the debutante and society people supposed to be there, but never spoke of anybody by name. She also said it was the most expensive ball in the country—but didn't say what the tickets cost.

There were a few great moments for women drivers in a fashion show we saw a coat made of—and I quote Miss Kirk—Chinese rooster feathers.

Jack Paar, who has been quietly—too quietly—hosting a weekly variety show for a year or so now, showed some of his old spunk and temper Friday night.

He took a few mean swipes at the comedy show, "Harry's Girls," which precedes him on NBC. He sneered at the quality of the show's scripts and suggested that his own show was audience. "Harry's Girls" is already in trouble. There is talk that NBC's or a sponsor would like Paar to take over the time. That would make it TV's first 90-minute variety show. NBC says "no comment" so perhaps a deal is in the making.

"Sunday," a new afternoon hour, had its NBC premiere Sunday.

There was little news, a short feature on Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, another on drinking in Washington. It talked of books, music, architecture and touched everything from the Eastern dry spell to NBC's way of censoring its programs. It covered too much too fast, and probably will shake down to some sort of format in a few weeks.

Siloam Springs Approves Bonds

SILLOAM SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A $500,000 bond issue to finance the expansion of Plus Poultry, Inc. was approved Tuesday by Siloam Springs voters. The vote was 540 to 43. Mayor Robert Henry said the

Labor Trying to Cut 40 Hour Week

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor leaders campaigning to cut the 40-hour work week estimate that more than 5.5 million Americans already have contracts calling for shorter hours. And the AFL-CIO, at its convention in New York next month, is almost certain to ask Congress to cut the work week of another 20 million Americans by reducing the present 40-hour minimum.

George Meany, president of the big labor organization, says Act 9 bonds would be paid off by rentals on Plus Poultry facilities at Siloam Springs. The bonds bear no tax, he said. The expansion would create about 400 new jobs at the plant, Henry said.

It is the only answer to full employment.

But labor's argument that it would not lead to inflationary price rises is apparently finding few receptive ears in Congress, the Labor Department or the White House.

The administration fears it would lead to rising prices and inflation.

The prime motivation now and in the past for shorter-work contracts, an AFL-CIO spokesman says frankly, is the fear of unemployment.

Some labor spokesmen believe cutting the 40-hour week would come close to halving the current unemployment figure of 3.5 million.

The cause of labor's growing concern is the steady loss of jobs to automation while the nation's labor force climbs inexorably higher.

Although the Labor Department does not keep figures on the number of workers with less than 40-hour contract weeks, the AFL-CIO's research depart-

Arkansan Killed in Viet Nam

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Mrs. Joan Brown of North Little Rock was notified Tuesday that her husband was killed Thursday when an Air Force plane crashed and burned in South Viet Nam.

Capt. Gordon R. Brown, 34, co-pilot of the plane, had been reported missing and presumed dead since the crash.

He had been stationed for over 21 months at Little Rock Air Force Base before being transferred to Viet Nam three weeks ago.

ment places the figure at 10 to 15 per cent of the nation's non-farm wage and salary workers—between 5.5 million and 8 million persons.

Does the shorter work week help spread employment? "Not as much as we had hoped," an AFL-CIO spokesman said, adding that automation has been taking up the slack faster than anticipated.

Senator Lists Steps to Lose Freedom

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Sen. J. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., brought his crusade against big government, civil rights and dealing with the Communists to Little Rock Tuesday night.

He found an interested and apparently appreciative audience of 500 at a banquet meeting of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce.

In a driving, 80-minute speech Thurmond said Americans are in danger of losing their freedom to government programs which aim for "domestic socialism and a foreign policy of accommodation with the Communists."

He said civil rights legislation now pending in Congress is "five per cent civil rights and 95 per cent power grab."

Thurmond listed these eight steps to loss of freedom and made these remarks:

1. Fiscal deterioration. "There should be no tax cut without a cut in spending."

2. Federal control of elections. "The constitution says the states shall decide on qualification of voters."

3. Federal control of education. "Federal aid means federal control."

4. Federal control of business. "If a customer has the right to pick his restaurant, shouldn't the restaurant owner have the right to pick his customers?"

5. Federal usurpation of state police power. "Even J. Edgar Hoover (director of the FBI) opposes a national police system."

6. Dilation of the defense posture. "There will be no war if we show we have the power and the will to win."

7. Depreciation of religion. "Karl Marx, in whose brain Communism was born, had two goals—to dethrone God and to destroy capitalism."

8. Lack of vigilance by the American people. "You just can't trust some of the people in high places."

"You may think things are going well in this country," Thurmond said, "but if you knew what is going on in Washington, you would be deeply concerned."

Some Americans take freedom for granted, he said, but history shows that some nations which had freedom lost it.

"So many of the bills which come through Congress these days are designed to give more power to the federal government," he said. "Southern congressmen are carrying the fight against them. It is the responsibility of the South to save the nation."

Thurmond said he could not buy the federal policy of appeasement and evolution. "The Russian idea of peace," he said, "is that there will be no conflict when Communism dominates the world."

"And there are those who believe that the problem will be settled as we move to the left and the Russians move to the right," he said.

Thurmond said civil rights movements get some support because "civil rights sound good."

"It does sound good to talk about equality. But God didn't make us equal. And if we were made equal tonight we'd be different by breakfast tomorrow because we are free. Alexander Hamilton said freedom guarantees inequality."

Thurmond said he could not understand some of the concern abroad over the plight of the American Negro.

"The American Negro is free and he has economic opportunity," he said. "The six million Negro families in this country have three million automobiles. That's thirty times as many cars as there are in Russia. How does the Negro buy these cars if he can't get a job?"

Thurmond said every American should write four letters—to the President, his two senators and his congressman—when he is disturbed about a piece of legislation.

"These people aren't in Washington to govern you," he said. "They're there to serve you."

Thurmond was applauded on half a dozen occasions and the loudest burst came when he praised Arkansas Sen. John L. McClellan and said the United States would be fortunate if McClellan were president.

Thurmond devoted about 10 minutes to an attack on the National Labor Relations Board whose policies, he said, were to unionize the South at any cost.

"The purpose behind this determined effort is threefold," he said. "First, to stop the movement of industry from the Northeast to the South; second, to gain power or recover political strength through bloc-voting dictation of union bosses; and third, to repay the political busses for their national political support."

The NLRB, he said, "has dealt from the bottom of the deck and against the public interest when there was political benefit to be gained."

Winter Time Recipes

Leftover roast lamb, combined with rice, will make a fine piping hot dinner casserole for a chilly night.

BAKED LAMB AND RICE
2 medium-size onions, chopped
2 tablespoons lamb fat
2 cups ground-roast lamb
2 cups cooked rice
1 can (28 oz.) tomatoes, drained
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon Lea & Perrins Worcestershire Sauce
1 slice bacon, diced
Cook onion in the fat for 5 minutes. Add remaining ingredients, except the bacon. Put into a baking dish and sprinkle with the bacon. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) about 45 minutes. (Serves 4)

The lowly onion can be a glamorous cold-weather dish when served with tangy cheese sauce.

SAUCY ONIONS
4 large Bermuda onions
8 ounces Cheddar cheese, diced
3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon Lea & Perrins Worcestershire sauce
Peel onions and slice a quarter-inch thick. Cook in salted boiling water for 10 minutes. Drain and reserve 1/2 cup of the onion liquid. Combine this with the remaining ingredients. Cook over very low heat until the cheese melts. Pour over the onions, and serve. (Serves 6)

Times Square Is More Than Sex

By CHARLES L. WEST

Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A street preacher stands beneath a movie marquee and beseeches all who will hear him not to see the nude double feature inside.

He is generally ignored except for the icy stares of the theater manager.

Down the street, a hole-in-the-wall book store dares the pornography laws. A stroller pauses to glance at the paperbacks with the salacious titles.

This is Times Square, the window through which most of American looks at New York. And the glass is smudged.

Billy Graham went there one night last week, hidden behind dark glasses, and he was shocked: "Sex everywhere! Pornography everywhere!"

But Times Square is more than this.

It is Graham, himself, a few years back, filling the streets with thousands come to hear his message. It is two million Americans caught up in the tumultuous celebration of World War II victory. It is a huge lighted ball at the stroke of midnight slowly descending from the Times Tower to the revelry of New Year's Eve.

And it is Times Square, carnival barker to the world. A steak for $1.19—or $12. A sidewalk crowd basking in the brass blast of a Dixieland band. A billboard smoker, forever blowing a real gray cloud through perpetually pursed lips.

This, too, is Times Square, vital and pulsing and a live-and-let-live tolerance of visiting firemen behaving as they wouldn't dare at home.

It is a curious crossroads, this Times Square which is not really a square, but a triangle. The thin wedge, three blocks long, points from 42nd Street to the intersection of Broadway and Seventh Avenue, and beyond to Duffy Square.

Here, with hearts in their mouths, come show business hopefuls from elsewhere in the nation.

For success, Broadway's din is a multitude shouting acclaim. For failure, more common on "The Street of Broken Dreams," the noise is a cold shoulder of exclusion.

The alleys are wide enough for only the successful to walk—Tin Pan Alley, fountainhead of the nation's popular music, and Shubert Alley, temple of the legitimate theater.

Its people come and go, but Times Square remains, great and gaudy, asleep til noon, exciting and defiantly sinful, a compression of human emotion exploding in flashing lights and enormous billboards.

In an afternoon address Tuesday Dr. Charles N. Kimball, president of the Midwest Research Institute of Kansas City told conferees that brain power has replaced the numerical supply of manpower has an attraction for industry.

Kimball said the true growth industries are not interested in cheap labor.

"They want highly skilled men at almost any price," he said. Kimball said such industries aren't interested in low taxes, because low taxes mean poor schools and such schools do turn out the manpower needed by the industries.

Environment, centers of learning and research combine to best attract wealth to an area, Kimball said.

Gop Insiders Talking of Their Chance

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans, particularly insiders, are talking a lot about the 1964 chances of their party and its would-be presidential candidates. It's all vague at this point and doesn't add up to much.

And no wonder, since New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater, the two most eager candidates, haven't yet formally admitted they are.

Take the chairman of the Republican National Committee, Rep. William E. Miller of New York. He says no Republican candidate has the nomination locked up although Goldwater is ahead at the moment.

He adds that if Goldwater sweeps the state primaries "I hardly think the convention could deny him the nomination." You wouldn't have to be an expert or an insider to figure that out.

Tuesday this writer listened for two hours to an extremely well-informed Republican source—who didn't want to be otherwise identified—and the total of all he had to say was pretty much one big if.

He was confident enough about the party's chances to say the one thing that could cost it the election would be a family fight.

But then, listing Republican complaints against President Kennedy's handling of domestic and foreign affairs, he conceded his party would be in a "hell of a mess" if the Russians pulled their troops out of Cuba just before the election.

It is always an unpleasant task to write about "informed sources" who don't want to be identified by name. The only reason for writing about this one is that he is in a position to have especially good insights.

The words symbol and vacuum are becoming part of Republican political jargon when they talk of Goldwater.

Last Sunday night on television Sen. John G. Tower of Texas spoke of Goldwater as an ideological symbol "of the opposition to administration programs and policies."

Either the well-informed source mentioned above had listened to Tower or thought of it himself for he called Goldwater a symbol, too, quoting people as saying "he says what he thinks—he is hard on communism."

He also said Goldwater is filling a vacuum in Republican politics—and that's one reason his stock is going up—because Rockefeller is the only other one activity looking for the nomination.

The word vacuum also popped up on television Sunday night when Rep. Stanley Tupper, a Maine Republican, said: "There is a vacuum. Gov. Rockefeller's campaign has not started yet, and I think once it does you are going to find that the man Goldwater is going to be separated from the issues he has espoused over the years."

What about former Vice President Richard M. Nixon's chances for the nomination?

The same source didn't rule out Nixon's chances but did say that, after the loss of the 1960 election, the former vice president would probably hurt his chances in 1964 if he took any overt action to seek the nomination.

Some other thoughts from this unnamed source:

He doubted Goldwater or Rockefeller would go into the Wisconsin or Minnesota primaries because, he thinks, both states will try to avoid party hostilities within their borders by picking favorite-son candidates.

And—he would like to see Goldwater debate President Kennedy, although Goldwater has shown enormous self-restraint about accepting Rockefeller's challenge to a debate.

No Room at the Top to Ever Relax

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—There's no room at the top to relax. President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev could sigh with relief when they signed the limited nuclear test ban treaty. It was one big headache out of the way. They could breathe a little easier. But not for long.

Even as he signed the treaty, Khrushchev was in the midst of a developing disaster for communism. His Red Chinese allies were denouncing him harder than ever. And besides, Russian agriculture was in foul shape. He had to admit it to the world by buying wheat abroad. And, if he meant it, it's no wonder that over the weekend he bowed out of the race to the moon, saying he'd be glad to watch the United States try it. It's an expensive contest and he could use the money better for things closer to home. But he wasn't completely convincing.

There's always the chance he was trying to kid the United States into giving up its moon try. He may have had some luck in this, too. Congress now will probably be more reluctant to vote money for the American moon program.

It's too soon to say Khrushchev is in serious trouble at home. But it's doubtful he can keep the reins indefinitely if disaster pursues him in other ways obvious not only to the world, but to the Russian people, too.

Peace and prosperity would be an ideal platform for Kennedy's re-election campaign next year. But right now he can't be sure how much of either he will have to point to when the 1964 campaign begins.

Civil rights advocates put on the biggest march on Washington in American history in August to show their solidarity and determination in wanting rights. About 200,000 people took part.

This impressive, but peaceful, demonstration was particularly intended to impress a Congress which was then juggling Kennedy's civil rights bill and generally showed no great enthusiasm for the President's requests.

Kennedy will probably feel he's lucky if Congress approves the bill this year.

And the same goes for his request for a tax cut. This was supposed to give the economy a shot in the arm, starting at the beginning of 1964. If neither program makes it this year, he'll try for both again next year.

But a tax-cutting bill approved somewhere in the middle of 1964—if it is approved—may be too late to help the economy much by next November's election.

And if Negroes have to wait until 1964 for a civil rights bill—and they look on the one Kennedy proposed as just a mild one—they may not wait peacefully.

Their demonstrations all over the country subsided after the march on Washington as if in a gesture of good will to let Congress do what they felt was needed.

But if this Congress ignores them and goes home without putting new civil rights laws on the book, it seems a good bet

Soldier Wins Fight to Stay in Army

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—T. Sgt. James H. Smith said Tuesday that he had received notice that he could stay in the Air Force until he had 20 years' service.

He was told several weeks ago that he was about to be medically discharged for a 20 per cent disability, which would sharply reduce retirement benefits.

Smith attempted to reach President Kennedy by telephone after appeals to Air Force officials failed to get him confirmation that his service career would be allowed to continue.

"They didn't give any reason why they made the decision or why I could stay in," said Smith who has almost 18 years experience. "All I know is that I can remain in, and I'm happy about it."

He had maintained that he could carry out his duties.

A physical evaluation board at Lakeland Air Force Base made the ruling that Smith should be discharged, 20 per cent disabled, because he had arthritis of the spine.

Smith is attached to the 308th Missile Maintenance Squadron at Little Rock Air Force Base.

that Negro patience will burst into violence in many places.

So, even if Kennedy in 1964 is able to point to peace abroad, there may be little peace at home. And, if Negroes feel he didn't try hard enough and stay away from the polls in northern cities next year, he'll be hurt.

In the meantime, frustrations and irritations build up for him overseas.

While he was trying—and still hasn't succeeded—to get some sense and movement into the struggle against communism in Viet Nam, right under his nose in Latin American democracies were overthrown by dictatorships.

Fidel Castro in Cuba is an open sore and will be used against him by the Republicans in 1964 unless he finds some solution, and none is in sight.

And he's so fed up with needing from French President De Gaulle and the worry of Western allies that this country will pull its troops out of Europe, his administration over the weekend issued a pointed rebuke.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk had to tell the allies—who years ago agreed to put together 20 divisions for the defense of Europe but did not—that it's time they kept their word and that this country alone filled its promise.

SOME PUMPKINS!

No longer is it enough to gouge out eyes and a snaggled mouth to make a jack-o'-lantern. "Sculpt" is the word for what to do these days, and some of the results are delightful. A linoleum knife, paring knife with a saw-tooth edge, grease pencil, tempera paint and odds-and-ends for decorations are the things you'll need. Examples reproduced here are top pumpkins. They were contest entries submitted by American Greetings artists in Cleveland, Ohio.

Ann Kenyon: Surgeon

By Adeline McElfresh

Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn. © 1960 Adeline McElfresh

THE STORY: Dr. Ann Kenyon was in a train wreck and has been injured. She is being taken to a hospital.

IV

Dimly, as if from miles away, she heard the siren spring into action, a low-pitched, whimpering scream that couldn't clear a road 20 feet ahead. "Is—that us?"

"That's us. We're coming to the highway now, more traffic. People always turn out for an accident. Sometimes wonder where they all come from, at this hour."

"It's not—very—loud." She sensed rather than saw his eyes on her face. "You're still fussed up. Sure you ought to be talking?"

"It's—just my leg—I think. Where are we?" "Ledlie, Indiana." "And the hospital?" "Ledlie Memorial."

He had been right, seconds ago, about her being "still fussed up." Ann realized. The siren was shrieking like some banshee in torment now and in her mind's eye she could see Ledlie Memorial Hospital readying for action. Emergency room, X-ray, surgery.

Ann wet her lips. If only she could do something, move, even, without that blinding pain, she was thinking when the attendant said relievedly, "We're here."

"Thank heaven!" she breathed. And as the ambulance came to a smooth, surprisingly quick stop, "There must be internal bleeding."

Already waiting hands had opened the ambulance doors.

The ceiling stopped moving in concentric circles after a time, but it still looked indistinct and an awfully long way off.

Skeletal traction might be more difficult, but it was what she wanted and if Ledlie Memorial Hospital was not set up for it she would insist on being taken somewhere else, she promised herself. After all, it was her femur and she didn't like skin traction, she never used the method nor did Dr. Scotlin, but in a hospital in a small town like Ledlie, Ind.—

She tried not to think of the unmarked door not far from where she lay, the door that her hospital knowledge told her was the morgue, or of the draped stretcher standing apart, down the corridor.

The nurse asked in a matter-of-fact and yet compassionate tone, "Want that hypo now, Dr. Kenyon?" Ann realized her shock and the pang of unaccustomed hysteria had been audible. She shook her head.

Drawing a deep, steadying breath that for some miracle didn't unleash fresh agony, Ann asked, "How many were—injured?"

Understanding touched the nurse's freckle-sprinkled face. "I think 20."

Ann's eyes went to the sheet-draped figure farther along the corridor. "How many dead?"

The nurse hesitated before she said, "Six," and Ann suspected she would not have been quite so forthright if she had not known that Ann was a doctor.

Ann was only cloudily aware of the young man, his peppermint-candy-striped pajama sleeves rolled above his elbows, mute evidence of the emergency that had catapulted him from bed. He flung the towel with which he had been drying his hands and arms from him, the gesture blessedly fanning the cloying smell that was iodine, bichloride of mercury, chloroform. "Cass, wouldn't you think that just this once Lyle could remember a guy named Hippocrates?"

"Are you sure they reached him?"

"They reached Peet, they reached me, Jackson, Conrad, didn't they?" as he grasped the stretcher.

"This is Dr. Kenyon, Dr. McDonnell," the nurse was saying. If Dr. McDonnell was either surprised or concerned he did not let it show. "We could use you on your feet, Dr. Kenyon." Ann tried in vain to summon a smile. "I—know."

"Since you're not—" He stepped closer to her side to make room for a sheet-draped stretcher that was being wheeled with almost sacrilegious briskness along the corridor. Ann's eyes followed it, halted with it at that unmarked door nearest the exit. One of the six, or another? She was thinking when the orderly wheeled the cart inside—and in so doing snagged the tucked-in sheet on the door jamb. Ann caught her breath at sight of iron-gray hair, a short sculptured bob—

"Mrs. McAnderson," she said quickly.

"Oh, you knew her?"

"We—sat together," Ann asked, "Is she—the—the seventh?"

Dr. McDonnell gave her a look. He nodded.

Judge Asked to Reduce Sentence

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Federal District Judge J. Smith Henley has been asked to reduce the life sentence of Raymond Ralph Roberts, convicted of second degree murder.

Roberts, 47, was convicted last week in the shooting of Dr. Keith Herlocker, 48, a psychologist at the North Little Rock Veterans Hospital.

Roberts' attorneys contended in a motion filed Monday that the jury may not have been aware that under federal law a life sentence could be invoked on a second degree murder conviction.

The jury reduced the charge from first degree murder. Attorneys said under state law 21 years imprisonment is the maximum penalty for a second degree murder conviction.

Under state law a life term is not eligible for parole until his sentence if first committed to a definite number of years. A federal life term can be paroled after 15 years.

Diplomatic Fronts Start Warming

An AP News Analysis

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials expect the diplomatic fronts—both in the East and the West—to begin warming up again.

They feel that the relatively long period of calm during the limited nuclear test ban talks with the Soviet Union and during the changes of government in Britain and West Germany is over.

But no real drama is expected, nothing like the U.S.-Soviet crisis over Cuba a year ago.

The truce on the cold war is believed here to have ended with this recent series of happenings:

Soviet troops blocking American and British convoys on the Berlin autobahn; the Soviet attack on the planned NATO multilateral force; and Izvestia's bitter comment on Exercise Big Lift, the U.S. experiment in transporting a whole division across the Atlantic by planes.

With the seeming end of the thaw, U.S. foreign policy experts figure the Kremlin will:

—Prod the West with tangible reminders that the Berlin issue is still alive.

—Seek opportunities to split the Western allies;

—Continue to seek understanding with the United States on pending issues, especially on minor ones.

The more peaceful activities will consist of talks on a variety of topics, ranging from negotiation on purchases of wheat to disarmament.

The situation with the allies appears to be a more complicated one. It will be Secretary of State Dean Rusk's task to find out, and soon, what if any changes in foreign policy the new governments in Britain and Germany represent.

No dramatic changes are expected, officials here said, but there may be skirmishes between the allies on a number of issues. Officials pointed out that differences between the four major Western capitals are always more accentuated before NATO's ministers convene—the council is due to meet in Paris in December—and the Big Lift appears to contribute to existing misunderstandings.

The Kennedy administration is still hoping that by early 1964 it will have a decisive answer from its allies on whether they want to go ahead with the multi-national nuclear fleet, whether they have some other ideas or whether they want to scrap the plan.

Another problem is West Germany's concern that if Big Lift is successful—thereby proving the United States can swiftly reinforce Europe from bases in the United States—the U.S. force in Germany will be reduced.

State Department officials privately concede it will not be easy to convince Bonn that this is not the case. They blame remarks by Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric for stirring up the suspicion.

The Big Lift is expected to enable the United States to carry out "some shifts in the form of our military presence" in Europe, Gilpatric said in a Chicago speech last Saturday.

The speech caused considerable concern in Germany—and some confusion in Washington. The State Department, it was

Pigeon Population Gets a Reprieve

NILES, Mich. (AP)—Niles' downtown pigeon population won't face a firing squad—it's been given a reprieve by Mayor Mowitt S. Drew.

A businessman had proposed lining up 125 marksmen on a Sunday morning, mostly along downtown rooftops, for a one-hour pigeon shoot.

Drew rejected the plan as too dangerous.

learned, did not agree with this part of Gilpatric's speech, but his objections were overruled by the White House. State Department officials insist there is no immediate plan for troop reductions.

The speculation about a possible reduction in U.S. forces got another boost Monday with the Army's announcement that its overseas units will be given more nuclear firepower.

The Army said ground forces in Europe and the Far East will be equipped with additional units of Sergeant missiles, an improved type of Honest John rockets and more atomic warheads for eight-inch howitzers.

Birthday Same for 4 Straight Sons

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Jonathan Daniel Steed opened his eyes to the world Sunday and must have set some sort of record.

He was the fourth straight son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Steed to be born on Oct. 27.

Billy, 42, said he figured the odds against four births in a row on the same date to be at least 27 million to one.

Dr. Jack Nettles of Little Rock, executive secretary of the Arkansas Society of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, said the odds were overwhelming.

"Luck was with them," Nettles said.

"We planned it that way," said the Steeds.

Steed and his wife, Twila, 32, had given a birthday party for their three sons, Mark, 9, Philip, 7, and Stephen, 4, on Saturday before the birth Sunday.

Mrs. Steed said she explained that "I was figuring on having them a brother or a sister to morrow." Dr. Grover Poole, who delivered all four boys, said no drugs were used to speed or slow birth.

Steed said they planned the first child for Oct. 27 because it is Navy Day and he was a Navy meteorologist in World War II.

"We had the first two that way and Twila and I decided we could do it again and again," he said. "It worked out as natural as A B C."

The births also came on the last day of National Bible Week, which made Mrs. Steed happy. The Steeds are Baptists and she teaches Sunday School.

"We start our kids to Sunday School when they're two weeks old and our three older boys have perfect attendance records," she said.

The Steeds operate the Twila Motel at Leachville. All the births were at St. Bernard's Hospital in Jonesboro, 40 miles east of the Steed home at Leachville.

"I love my boys but I'd like to have just one girl," Mrs. Steed said. "We may have to break up the birth dates to break up the string of boys."

The Steeds said they want six children.

Rugby, Anyone?

ividly striped rugby shirts have brightened the playing fields of England for many years. Now they're invading the U.S. scene. MacShore Classics have taken these shirts off the backs of English footballers and placed them in the wardrobe of every smart American co-ed and office girl. MacShore's "authentic fakes" are in 100 per cent woven fabric. They can be had in true-to-form navy and red stripes or such renegade color combinations as yellow and black, and orange and black. In pullover shirt or shift dress styles, they come complete with white attached collars. The Rugby Shirt sells for about $5. The Rugby Dress costs around $11. Both are from MacShore.

Bids Opened on State Road Jobs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The W. D. Jeffrey Construction Co. of Fort Smith submitted an apparent low bid of $731,945 today on a contract for construction of 3.4 miles of Interstate Route 40 from Clarksville west.

The contract was one of nine road and bridge jobs costing $3,314,698 opened by the Highway Commission today.

The largest project in the batch is 8.1 miles of improvements on state Highway 1 from Jonesboro north in Craighead County. Ben M. Hogan of Little Rock was the apparent low bidder on this job at $899,613.

Other jobs, by contract, with the apparent low bidder and amount of bid, were:

Chicot and Desha: 7.3 miles of improvement on Highway 65 from Halley Junction north of Lake Village to McGehee, D. F. Jones Co. of Little Rock, $565,944.

Chicot: 2 mile improvements on state Highway 52 including a bridge over Boeuf River, 5.8 miles west of Indian, W. R. Fairchild Co., Hattiesburg, Miss., $92,205.

Arkansas: 7.3 miles of improvements to state Highway 130 from the junction of Highway 11 eastward, D. F. Jones

Fr. Smith to Vote on Bonds

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—A $6.5 million revenue bond issue to finance sewer improvements will go before Fort Smith voters Nov. 26.

The Fort Smith City Commission called the special election on the bonds, which would pay part of the cost of a proposed $11.2 million project.

The bonds would be paid off over a period of 30 years by an increase in sewage rates charged residents according to the amount of water they use.

A sewage filter system is included in the project.

Federal funds would supply the remainder of the cost of the project.

Little Rock, $277,095.

Cleburne: 7.2 miles of improvements to state Highway 92 from the junction of Highway 16 eastward, B. L. Johnston, Heber Springs, $334,396.

Union: 7.8 miles of improvements on state Highway 160 from two miles northeast of the Highway 57 junction northeastward, J. P. Arnold, Camden, $238,124.

Benton: 4.1 miles of improvements to state Highway 102 from Centerton eastward, Southeast Construction Co., Pine Bluff, $176,041.

Mississippi: Signs along 20 miles of Interstate Highway 55 from the Marine Interchange northeastward, Interstate Sign Erectors, Little Rock, $56,772.

Auto Profits Seem to Be Dazzling

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Dazzling profit figures are sprouting from the dizzy production and sales pact set by Detroit's automakers.

They gave promise of warming the hearts—and palms—of stockholders, including the more than one million of the General Motors Corp.

Of the "Big Three" automakers, only Ford Motor Co. remained today to be heard from following GM's report of all-time high earnings and dollar sales in the nine months ended Sept. 30.

Chrysler Corp. last week unfolded another financial chapter in its spectacular. Directors promptly voted a 2-for-1 stock split, the second in less than a year, and in effect doubled the dividend.

GM's pattern of rewarding its shareholders — whether by more liberal dividend treatment or possibly a stock split—will be decided when directors meet Monday in New York.

In the first nine months, GM cleared $1,086,000,000, or $3.79 a common stock share, on unprecedented sales of $11,684,000,000.

The results suggested strong-

Judgment Against Railway Appealed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The St. Louis and San Francisco Railway appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court today from a Crawford Circuit Court jury's award of $2,000 to a farmer whose land was damaged by a fire he said was caused by a Frisco train.

J. A. Friddle sued the railroad after the fire destroyed pasture, pine seedlings and timber on his 200-acre farm near Chester April 21, 1962.

The railroad did not dispute the fact that the fire was started by a train.

ly that GM was on the way to shattering 1962's records for a full year of $1,459,000,000 in earnings and $14,640,000,000 in sales, levels unequaled by any manufacturing corporation.

The nine-month figures compared with $962 million, or $3.36 a share, cleared in the comparable 1962 period, on sales of $10,451,000,000.

Wall Street has been alive with speculation over what GM directors will do next week. Many traders and brokers looked at least for a rise in the regular dividend rate, pegged at 50 cents a quarter since 1955, or a fat year-end extra.

Some held hope of a stock split. GM last divided its shares in 1955 on a 3-for-1 basis, and before that split 2-for-1 in October 1950.

All About Dogs

Canine Education
From the moment you get your puppy it's time to think about giving him some education. The canine temperament, of course, isn't amenable to lessons in reading and writing, but every family dog should get some obedience training.

Learning to obey the command "sit" should be the first lesson in a dog's obedience training, according to Clarence C. Fawcett, an expert on dogs at the Purina Dog Care Center in St. Louis, Missouri.

"Command 'sit' and push him into a sitting position," Fawcett says. "Praise him, 'Good dog to sit.' If he tries to move, say 'No.' You sit, and push him back into sitting position. Repeat the process until he learns the command and will sit."

Because the order to sit will prevent an overly affectionate pet from jumping on visitors in an attempt to give them a "doggy" kiss, Fawcett recommends teaching this command first. But aside from house training lessons, a pooch's education shouldn't begin too soon," Fawcett says. "Most months old dogs should be taught tricks. At the Purina Dog Care Center, we've discovered that dogs can't learn many lessons until they're near the end of their puppyhood."

"We also believe that lessons shouldn't last too long. A dog's attention span is short and too much education at once may tire him. Several short lessons a day are better than one long lesson."

Bank Branch Upheld by Chancellor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pulaski Chancellor Murray O. Reed ruled Tuesday that a teller's window at Caraway operated by the Monette State Bank cannot be closed until proved injurious to Arkansans.

Reed upheld Monette State Bank in its lawsuit to protect the window at Caraway.

Act 544 of 1963 cannot be construed so that it retroactively would close a teller's window in a town in which a new bank had been chartered.

The teller's window was opened in 1937 under Act 191 of 1935, which said no "office" could be continued at any place after a newly chartered bank had begun business there.

A new Caraway Bank was chartered Sept. 12, 1962, and opened for business at Caraway on Nov. 27, 1962.

But Act 190 of 1961 repealed the 1935 law, thereby giving Monette State Bank a vested property right at Caraway, Reed ruled.

He said the state Constitution provides that this property right cannot be taken away until proved "injurious to the citizens of this state." He said he found no such injury in the window facility.

Many Arkansas bankers were interested in the lawsuit because it could have affected the validity of other teller's windows operated by banks in cities where their home offices were.

Reed did not rule on the constitutionality of the 1963 law, although the suit brought by Monette State Bank questioned its constitutionality. Reed ruled on the interpretation of the 1963 act.

Says DeGaulle's Pride Wounded

WASHINGTON (AP)—French President Charles De Gaulle looks at America "through the distorting prism of wounded pride" and is weakening the Atlantic Alliance, Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said Tuesday.

Fulbright said De Gaulle's "doubt and mistrust" hurt the alliance.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said a "viable alliance depends on common policies as well as common objectives."

De Gaulle's policy has been "deeply disappointing," Fulbright said, and "could lead to the disruption of the Western Alliance."

The French president would rather have a closed economy benefiting only France than one in which all the western allies could benefit, Fulbright said.

title—and one hopes it is just that—is "Americamera." Tappings start next week.

The idea is to tap the ham in the average citizen by permitting him to appear before some cameras, and to say or do anything that comes into his head. This includes, heaven help us, telling jokes, airing gripes or even reciting home-grown poetry and prose.

CBS has an order in for 13 shows.

"McHale's Navy" cast and crew is the most popular show on the Revue lot with the guided-tour visitors. They are the only ones who will stop shooting to wave at the passersby.

Many TV Choices on Wednesdays

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's television viewers have some interesting choices available Wednesday night. There are, among other network items, such dramas as "He Rises on Sunday and We on Monday," "Little Drops of Water," "Little Grains of Sand," "Oh, You Shouldn't Have Done It," and "The Potato Bash Word."

The foregoing are the titles of episodes in network television series — respectively "Espionage," "Ben Casey," "11th Hour" and "Channing." There seems to be some sort of a quiet contest going on this season to find the longest, most non-committal and weird title for a script.

The fad for surrealistic titles seems to have started with the avant-garde playwrights who are whipping up titles like "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

Such tags may amuse the writers, but they really don't do a thing for the show. Some well-established programs have resisted the vogue. Both "Wagon Train" and "Perry Mason" have used the same titles, with minor variations, for each episode since they started.

Walt Disney is no man to fool around, either. Last Sunday's show was called "The Waltz King," and the story was about a waltz king.

So how do you feel about "Comfort Me With Yoyos," "Child One With Broken Guitar String." They are titles of future "Channing" episodes—unless someone gets there first with a big blue pencil.

CBS has a second Allen Funt show warming up in television's bullpen in the likely event that its "Glynis" succumbs after a few more weeks. The working

Fashion Hints for the Hostess

The hostess with the mostest is not only the one who serves the most delicious dinners and makes sure her guests have a delightful time, but also the one who looks prettiest at her own parties.

The hostess who wears this pretty paisley mohair and wool knit from David Crystal is sure to attract admiring comments from her guests—especially if she wears under it the proper foundation garments for the fashion and her figure.

In the midst of planning menus and table arrangements and seeing that your house is in order, don't overlook personal planning: how you'll style your hair, what dress you will wear and the accessories to go with it. How attractive you look—at your own parties and elsewhere—depends upon your face, your fashions, your figure. One shouldn't wait until the last moment before any special occasion to find out if a new make-up is becoming, or if a new dress fits to perfection.

Make sure in advance that the new makeup goes on smoothly; that the dress fits; that you have the proper foundations to shape a fine figure.

This season's daytime fashions are casual, but for evening they're elegant. If your party is to be an elaborate one at which you'll wear a figure-following crepe or sheer wool hostess gown, consider a corselet as your shapemaker. The one-piece foundation is ideal underlining for any dress—long or short—that fits close to the figure, for it absolutely bans bulges!

For a dress with a full skirt, a bra-lette is a good choice, for it contours the bustline, minimizes the midriff, smooths just the upper curve of the hips. For shift styles, and the numerous new dresses that drape gracefully from an Empire waistline, wear a softly shaping brassiere and a pantie girdle or girdle with firm hip control. Shifts and Empire styles, even though not closely fitted, appear smart over controlled curves. Naturally it's wise to select foundations along with outer fashions to insure perfect fit. This is particularly true of special-occasion clothes in which you want to look your very best!
